How to Write the History of the New World Jorge Cañizares-Esguerra, 2001 An Economist Book of the Year 2001 In the 18th century a debate ensued over the French naturalist Buffon's contention that the New World was in fact geologically new Historians naturalists and philosophers clashed over Buffon's view This book maintains that the dispute was also a debate over historical authority upon whose sources and facts should naturalists and historians reconstruct the history of the Martin, 2018-09-07 The first extensive analysis of the translation publication and critical reception of Alexander von Humboldt's writings in nineteenth century Britain Prompts a rethinking of the role of translation in mediating scientific knowledge Reconsiders how translators shape a scientist's international reputation Draws on extensive archival material in neglected publishers' archives to shed new light on how authors, their translators, and their publishers collaborate Alexander von Humboldt was one of the most important scientists of the nineteenth century Captivating his readers with his vibrant lyrical prose he transformed understandings of the earth and space by rethinking nature as the interconnection of global forces This book argues that style was key to the success of these translations and shows how Humboldt's British translators, now largely forgotten figures, were pivotal in moulding his prose and his public persona as they reconfigured his works for readers in Britain and beyond Travel Writing and the Natural World, 1768-1840 P. Smethurst, 2012-10-10 Taking as a starting point the parallel occurrence of Cook's Pacific voyages, the development of natural history, scenic tourism in Britain, and romantic travel in Europe, this book argues that the effect of these practices was the production of nature as an abstract space and that the genre of travel writing had a central role in reproducing it Church's Great Picture, the Heart of the Andes Kevin J.
