Neolithic Stone Extraction in Britain and Europe Peter Topping,2021-12-08 This book focuses on the introduction of Neolithic extraction practices across Europe through to the Atlantic periphery of Britain and Ireland The key research questions are when and why were these practices adopted and what role did extraction sites play in Neolithic society Neolithic mines and quarries have frequently been seen as fulfilling roles linked to the expansion of the Neolithic economy However this ignores the fact that many communities chose to selectively dig for certain types of stone in preference to others and why the products from these sites were generally deposited in special places such as wetlands To address this question 168 near global ethnographic studies were analyzed to identify common trends in traditional extraction practices to produce robust statistics about their motivations and material signatures Repeated associations emerged between storied locations the organization of extraction practices long distance distribution of products and the material evidence such activities left behind This suggests that we can now probably identify mythologized storied sites seasonality ritualized extraction and the use life of extraction site products The ethnographic model was tested against data from 223 near global archaeological extraction sites which confirmed a similar patterning in both material records It was used to analyze the social context of 79 Neolithic flint mine and 51 axe quarry excavations in Britain and Ireland and to review their European origins The evidence that emerges confirms the pivotal role played by Neolithic extraction practices in European Neolithization and that the interaction of indigenous foragers with migrant miners farmers was fundamental to the adoption of the new agropastoral lifestyle Reservoir Formation Conditions and Enrichment Mechanisms of Shale Oil and Gas Kun Zhang, Shu Jiang, Jijun Li, Dadong Liu, Jingqiang Tan, 2023-05-15 Turkish Intelligence and the Cold War Egemen Bezci, 2019-10-31 Turkish Intelligence and the Cold War examines the hitherto unexplored history of secret intelligence cooperation between three asymmetric partners specifically the UK US and Turkey from the end of the Second World War until the Turkey s first military coup d tat on 27 May 1960 The book shows that our understanding of the Cold War as a binary rivalry between the two blocs is too simple an approach and obscures important characteristics of intelligence cooperation among allies Egemen Bezci shows that a pragmatic approach offers states new opportunities to protect national interests by conducting intelligence diplomacy to influence crucial areas such as nuclear weapons and to exploit cooperation in support of their own strategic imperatives This study not only reveals previously unexplored origins of secret intelligence cooperation between Turkey and West but also contributes to wider academic debates on the nature of the Cold War by highlighting the potential agency of weaker states in the Western Alliance The History of Apologetics Zondervan, 2020-06-16 ECPA Christian Book Award 2021 Finalist Biography Memoir Explore Apologetics through the Lives of History s Great Apologists The History of Apologetics follows the great apologists in the history of the church to understand how they approached the task of apologetics in their own cultural and theological context Each chapter looks at the life of a well known apologist from history unpacks their methodology and details how they approached the task of defending the faith By better understanding how apologetics has been done readers will be better able to grasp the contextualized nature of apologetics and apply those insights to today s context The History of Apologetics covers forty four apologists including Part One Patristic Apologists Part Two Medieval Apologists Part Three Early Modern Apologists Part Four 19th C Apologists Part Five 20th C American Apologists Part Six 20th C European Apologists Part Seven Contemporary Apologists Rock Art Studies: News of the World V Paul Bahn, Natalie Franklin, Matthias Strecker, 2016-05-31 This is the fifth volume in the series Rock Art Studies News of the World Like the previous editions it covers rock art research and management across the globe over a five year period in this case the years 2010 to 2014 inclusive Building Smart, Resilient and Sustainable
