Longing For Running Water:

Longing for Running Water Ivone Gebara, 1999-09-01 Gebara's succinct yet moving statement of her principles of ecofeminism shows how intertwined are the tarnished environment around her and the poverty that afflicts her neighbors. From her experiences with the Brazilian poor women's movement she develops a gritty urban ecofeminism and indeed articulates a whole worldview. She shows how the connections between Western thought, patriarchal Christianity and environmental destruction necessitate personal conversion to a new relationship with the earth and with the entire cosmos.

Searching for the Future in the Past Keun-joo Christine Pae, Kathleen T. Talvacchia, 2024-10-17 Inclusive and progressive theological and religious perspectives have an important and distinctive contribution to make to an analysis of the critical issues facing women identified persons in the 21st century. This incisive collection of essays recovers the missing theological voices grounded in those religious communities and traditions which gender and sexuality studies often overlook. Feminist theologies have from their beginnings aspired to be the communal production of women identified persons who critically reflect on their experiences in the contexts of culture, social standpoint, religious practices and beliefs and imagination of the Feminine Divine. Pae and Talvacchia draw from this heritage to engage the critical issues of today to create new perspectives. They create an intellectual and discursive space where feminist theologians in all of their diversity renew and reclaim the rich legacies of the feminist theological tradition through inter-generational, racially diverse and transnational conversation.

In the Long Run We're All Dead Björn Frank, 2023-08-12 A fascinating and entertaining account of the lives of the most important economists of the past. Until the late nineteenth century economics couldn't be studied at the university level; the field was the domain of well-educated figures whose radical curiosity drew them to a discipline that was little understood and often ridiculed. In the Long Run We're All Dead tells the story of one of those figures in each of its thirteen chapters. Each of these extraordinary lives is worthy of fiction and the manner of their deaths oddly often illuminates their work. Björn Frank shows us how these economists developed the theories for which they became famous and explains those ideas: utilitarianism, social costs, the endowment effect and others with reference to the lives of their creators in an engaging, irreverent, even comic style. Frank also takes daring leaps into speculation considering how the principles of these long-gone economists might be applied to problems of today and of the future.

Liming of Acidified Surface Waters Lennart Henrikson, Y.W. Brodin, 2012-12-06 Acidification is one of the most serious environmental problems, especially in Sweden, which suffers most from the consequences of acid rain. Besides international negotiations to reduce sulphur emissions, 85% of the acid load on Sweden can be traced to emissions from outside Sweden. The Swedish Government has employed large-scale operative liming activities to counteract acidification of surface waters. The scientific results show that although acidification cannot be solved by liming, the measures taken resulted in substantially improved conditions in around 8 000 Swedish lakes and watercourses and other countries affected by acidification may also profit from the Swedish experience.

Zigon Jasmina Kozina Praprotnik,2017-10-15 Anthropologist Jasmina Praprotnik met Helena Zigon while running Over the course of an icy Slovenian winter the two marathon runners got together frequently and Zigon told Praprotnik about her life Here Praprotnik tells Zigon s captivating story in Zigon s own voice Each chapter is marked by a kilometer of the half marathon Zigon ran along the Adriatic Sea on her eighty sixth birthday shortly after losing her husband of sixty years Stane

Zigon's life spanned most of the twentieth century. She witnessed the Second World War, the rise and fall of Yugoslavia, and the founding of the new state of Slovenia. Abandoned by her parents and having grown up poor and mistreated by her stepmother, Zigon demonstrates the stoic resilience of a long-suffering Slavic woman. Though beset with challenges, she found a source of strength in the act of running. From a young girl running errands to an old woman running in the face of new grief, running has been a bright thread braided throughout her life. It has served her as a balm and a joy, one that she is grateful to still be able to savor. This inspirational memoir will appeal to general readers, especially those interested in history and running. The Nature-study Review, 1911
