Abstract

The emergence of an antibiotic-resistant bacteria introduces a challenging and new issues in the field of healthcare. An analysis involving multiple research articles was conducted in order to look for the best practice for both the prevention and the spread of the Methicillin-Resistant Staphylococcus Aureus (MRSA) in the health care setting. Its importance in the health care setting includes decreasing mortality and morbidity, providing protection to the critical medical resources, while reducing its overall burden on health. Some patients are at a relatively higher risk for contracting MRSA. As such, different avenues need to be further explored so as to prevent faster transmission. These also includes early detection, antibiotic therapy, isolation precautions, as well as hand washing. This paper will offer the best evidence for preventing the spread of this possibly fatal bacterium.
