

"Then we are in the same case! Pardon me, sir, I have seen you before, but for once I am at fault."

"When I call myself De Ribaumont, your grace will not wonder."

"The dead alive! If I mistake not, it was in the Inferno itself that we last met! But we have broken through the gates at last! I remember poor King Charles was delighted to hear that you lived! But where have you been a captive?"

"At Nid-de-Merle, sire; my kinsmen accused me of treason in order to hinder my search for my wife. We escaped even now during the funeral of the chevalier."

"By favor of which we are making our way to Parthenay unsuspected, though, by my faith, we gather so like a snow-ball, that we could be a match for a few hundreds of Guisards. Who is with you, Monsieur de Ribaumont?"

"Let me present to your majesty my English brother, Philip Thistlewood," said Berenger, drawing the lad forward, making due obeisance, though entirely ignorant who was the plainly dressed, travel-soiled stranger, so evidently a born lord of men.

"An Englishman is ever welcome," was his gracious reception.

"And," added Berenger, "let me also present the young De Selinville, to whom I owe my escape. Where is he, Philip?"

He seemed to be busy with the horses, and Berenger could not catch his eye.

"Selinville! I thought that good Huguenot house was extinct."

"This is a relation of the late Count de Selinville, my cousin's husband, sire. He arranged my evasion, and would be in danger at Nid-de-Merle. Call him, Philip."

Before this was done, however, the king's attention was otherwise claimed, and turning to one of his gentlemen he said, "Here, D'Aubigne, I present to you an acquaintance made in Tartarus. See to his entertainment ere we start for Parthenay."

Agrippa d'Aubigne, still young, but grave and serious looking, greeted M. de Ribaumont as men meet in hours when common interests make rapid friendships; and from him Berenger learned, in a few words, that the King of Navarre's eyes had been opened at last to the treachery of

French Pearls An Erotic Romance:

The Romance of the Rose and the Making of Fourteenth-century English Literature Philip Knox,2022 This title provides a new account of the literary history of fourteenth century England arguing that many of this period s most distinctive literary experiments emerge through a productive dialogue with the Romance of the Rose a jointly authored medieval French poem

Clandestine Erotic Fiction in English 1800-1930 Peter Mendes,2016-12-05 This work offers bibliographical descriptions of all printings of erotic fiction in English issued clandestinely during the period 1800 1930 By clandestine is meant books whose publishers and printers attempt to hide their identities usually by offering title pages whose misleading places and dates of publication may shock and amuse but which always aim to mystify Using internal and external evidence an attempt is made to establish who were the printers booksellers and publishers English and Continental involved in this trade The printing families or groups into which a large percentage of the material falls are classified accompanied by illustrations which identify the main printing characteristics house styles of the groups Bibliographical descriptions follow a checklist of clandestine catalogues these provide valuable evidence for dating pricing and sales pitch and information on items of which no copies can now be traced The work concludes with a series of appendices which provide significant external evidence and three indexes of themes titles and names Peter Mendes original research builds on and significantly extends the essential pioneer work of the Victorian collector and bibliographer H S Ashbee Pisanus Fraxi

Courtly Love Undressed E. Jane Burns,2014-07-09 Clothing was used in the Middle Ages to mark religious military and chivalric orders lepers and prostitutes The ostentatious display of luxury dress more specifically served as a means of self definition for members of the ruling elite and the courtly lovers among them In Courtly Love Undressed E Jane Burns unfolds the rich display of costly garments worn by amorous partners in literary texts and other cultural documents in the French High Middle Ages Burns reads through clothes in lyric romance and didactic literary works vernacular sermons and sumptuary laws to show how courtly attire is used to negotiate desire sexuality and symbolic space as well as social class Reading through clothes reveals that the expression of female desire so often effaced in courtly lyric and romance can be registered in the poetic deployment of fabric and adornment and that gender is often configured along a sartorial continuum rather than in terms of naturally derived categories of woman and man The symbolic identification of the court itself as a hybrid crossing place between Europe and the East also emerges through Burns's reading of literary allusions to the trade travel and pilgrimage that brought luxury cloth to France

Impolitic Bodies Sheila Delany, 1998 Eternal Surrender Lorraine Pearl, 2023-04-10 When lust turns to love he'll have to fight his way through three realms and her family to claim her as his own Vampire Donovan Evanko can't get enough of his lust-filled trysts with courtesan turned Enforcer Laureline Montague and she feels the same But when their rendezvous go from meaningless sex to something more Lori's vampiric family steps in and wants Donovan to step up Donovan doesn't want to be an Enforcer but now he must prove himself worthy of a vampire princess like Laureline He must travel with her to other realms face deadly foes and bring back magical powers to save their race from annihilation at the hands of the Brotherhood of Vampire Hunters Will Donovan be able to keep Laureline safe on this journey Will he survive long enough to claim her Will her family even allow it if he does

Love Cures Laine E. Doggett, 2012-04-30 What is love Popular culture bombards us with notions of the intoxicating capacities of love or of beguiling women who can bewitch or heal to the point that it is easy to believe that such images are timeless and universal Not so argues Laine Doggett in Love Cures Aspects of love that are expressed in popular music such as love is a drug sexual healing and love potion number nine trace deep roots to Old French romance of the high Middle Ages A young woman heals a poisoned knight A mother prepares a love potion for a daughter who will marry a stranger in a faraway land How can readers interpret such events In contrast to scholars who have dismissed these women as fantasy figures or labeled them witches Doggett looks at them in the light of medical and magical practices of the high Middle Ages Love Cures argues that these practitioners as represented in romance have shaped modern notions of love Love Cures seeks to engage scholars of love marriage and magic in disciplines as diverse as literature history anthropology and philosophy

Seeing the Gawain-Poet Sarah Stanbury, 2016-11-11 Offers the full length study of the descriptive art found in four medieval poems Sir Gawain and the Green Knight Purity and Patience The Romance of the Rose Guillaume de Lorris, Jean de Meun, 2023-06-06 Many English speaking readers of the Roman de la rose the famous dream allegory of the thirteenth century have come to rely on Charles Dahlberg's elegant and precise translation of the Old French text His line by line rendering in contemporary English is available again this time in a third edition with an updated critical apparatus Readers at all levels can continue to deepen their understanding of this rich tale about the Lover and his quest against the admonishments of Reason and the obstacles set by Jealousy and Resistance to pluck the fair Rose in the Enchanted Garden The original introduction by Dahlberg remains an excellent overview of the work covering such topics as the iconographic significance of the imagery and the use of irony in developing the central theme of love His new preface reviews selected scholarship through 1990 which examines for example the sources and influences of the work the two authors the nature of the allegorical narrative as a genre the use of first person and the poem's early reception The new bibliographic material incorporates that of the earlier editions The sixty-four miniature illustrations from thirteenth and fifteenth century manuscripts are retained as are the notes keyed to the Langlois edition on which the translation is based

International Exposure Lisa Z. Sigel, 2005-01-03 International Exposure demonstrates the wealth of desires woven into the fabric of European history desires about empire and nation about self and other about plenty and dearth By documenting the diverse meanings of pornography senior scholars from across disciplines show the ways that sexuality became central to the individual to the nation and to the transnational character of modern society The ten essays in the volume engage a rich array of topics including obscenity in the German states censorship in France s Third Republic the male internet porn the rise of incestuous longings in England the place of the Hungarian video revolution in the global market and the politics of pornography in Russia Taken together the essays illustrate the latest approaches to content readership form and delivery in modern European pornography A substantial discussion of the broad history and state of the field complements the ten in depth case studies that examine a wide range of sources from literature to magazines video to the internet By tackling the highbrow and lowdown of the pornographic form this volume lays the groundwork for the next surge of studies in the field

Approaching Medieval English Anchoritic and Mystical Texts Dee Dyas, Valerie Edden, Roger Ellis, 2005 Essays suggesting new ways of studying the crucial but sometimes difficult range of medieval mystical material This volume seeks to explore the origins context and content of the anchoritic and mystical texts produced in England during the Middle Ages and to examine the ways in which these texts may be studied and taught today It foregrounds issues of context and interaction seeking both to position medieval spiritual writings against a surprisingly wide range of contemporary contexts and to face the challenge of making these texts accessible to a wider readership The contributions by leading scholars in the field incorporate historical literary and theological perspectives and offer critical approaches and background material which will inform both research and teaching The approaches to Middle English anchoritic and mystical texts suggested in this volume are many and varied In this they reflect the richness and complexity of the contexts from which these writings emerged These essays are offered as part of an ongoing exploration of aspects of medieval spirituality which while posing a considerable challenge to modern readers also offer invaluable insights into the interaction between medieval culture and belief Contributors E A Jones Dee Dyas Valerie Edden Santha Bhattacharji Denis Renevey A C Spearing Thomas Bestul Liz Herbert McAvoy Barry A Windeatt Alexandra Barratt R S Allen Roger Ellis Ann M Hutchison Marion Glasscoe Catherine Innes Parker On the Nature of Poetry Kenneth Verity, 2007-06-01 The entire history of Western poetry is surveyed in this study from the ancient world the Middle Ages the Renaissance and the modern period Two hundred poems extracts are included and 10 poets are covered in depth with critical appraisals of their lives and work Problems of translation in poetry are carefully considered and the book provides a working definition of poetry calling it a form of expression human beings turn to when they need to say something important in a memorable way Let's Talk About Sex Lisa Featherstone, 2011-01-18 From the start of the new Australian nation in 1901 to the use of the female contraceptive pill in 1961 Let's Talk About Sex explores the ways sexuality has been constructed understood and experienced in Australia Far from being something hidden and private this work brings sexuality out into the open and explains why sex is of social cultural political and economic importance Let's Talk About Sex is an inclusive history surveying multiple and interwoven forms of sexuality desire pleasure regulation and resistance It begins with the long Victorian period the hidden desires of women and the hydraulic sexual needs of men both in the cities and on the frontier It moves across the decades considering heterosexuality homosexuality lesbians and nascent ideas about queer and sexual difference Lisa Featherstone highlights the tensions of the ages venereal disease homophobia birth control rape and child sexual assault She analyses the ways non normative sexuality was constructed as evil and perverse but also how men and women responded to this pathologising of their desires Let's Talk About Sex provides a fascinating account of sex gender age and race across the formative years of Australian society

Disorienting Encounters Muhammed As-Saffar,1992-02-14 In December of 1845 Muhammad as Saffar was sent by the reigning Moroccan sultan on a special diplomatic mission to Paris During the journey as Saffar took careful notes and upon his return he hurriedly wrote this travel account Why was the sultan descendent of the Prophet Muhammad and head of a dynasty that had ruled Morocco for more than two hundred years so eager to read this account Perhaps he thought it would illuminate some troubling matters how the French acquired their power and their mastery over nature how they led their daily lives educated their children treated their women and servants In short the sultan wanted to know the condition of French civilization and why it differed from his As Saffar provided the answers Moreover as we read the account Muhammad as Saffar comes alive for us We see him reflecting on the beauty of women contorting during his ritual ablutions and suffering from boredom at endless dinners His opinions and ideas infuse every page For him the journey was more than a catalog of curiosities it was a transforming experience Given our very limited knowledge of the time and the absence of other voices that speak with equal clarity this travel account enlarges our understanding of the relationship between nineteenth century Morocco and France
