Translation as Social Justice Wine Tisseur, 2022-09-30 This book analyses the translation policies and practices of international non governmental organisations (INGOs) engaging in critical questions around the ways in which translation can redress power dynamics between INGOs and the people they work with and the role of activist researchers in contributing to these debates. The volume examines the duality of translation and interpreting in INGOs traditionally undervalued and under resourced while simultaneously acknowledged as a powerful tool in ensuring these organisations work according to their own values of equal access to information dialogue and political representation. Drawing on over ten years of ethnographic fieldwork and interview data with a wide variety of INGOs Tisseur offers unique insights into if and how INGOs plan for translation and interpreting needs while also critically reflecting on her own experience and the ways in which activist researchers like her can ensure social justice efforts are fully reflected in their own working practices. The volume also aims to determine the interplay between the creation of suspense and fictional dialogue. The particular interest in dialogue comes from the host of roles it plays in fiction. Fictional dialogue is the discursive method of evoking orality conferring authenticity and credibility on a plot and giving fictional characters a voice. As a narrative strategy dialogue is an important resource that enables the writer to shape the character's subjectivity In thrillers the character's voice is part of the process of creating suspense an element of uncertainty anxiety and excitement which is not exclusive to this genre To clearly differentiate suspense from the tension created by other types of fiction this volume aims to study the relationship between the character's voices and the building of suspense and to describe the translation difficulties arising from this particular interdependence
