Translation and the Classic Paul F. Bandia, James Hadley, Siobhán McElduff, 2024-02-08 Through a range of accessible and innovative chapters dealing with a spectrum of genres authors and periods this volume seeks to examine the complex relationship between translation and the classic and how translation makes and remakes and sometimes invents classic works for new audiences across space and time Translation and the Classic is the first volume in a two volume series examining how classic works fare in translation how translation is different when it engages with classic texts and how classic texts can be shaped understood in new ways or even created through the process of translation Although other collections have covered some of this territory they have done so in partial ways or with a focus on Greek Roman and Arabic texts or translations This collection alone takes the reader from 1000 BCE up to the digital age in a sequence of chapters that encompass areas including philosophy children's literature and pseudotranslation It asks us to consider translation not just as a mechanism of distribution but as one of the primary ways that the classic is created and understood by multiple audiences This book is essential reading for those taking Translation Studies courses at the senior undergraduate and postgraduate level as well as courses outside Translation Studies such as Comparative Literature and Literary Studies
