

HUMAN URINARY TRACT AND KIDNEY

Name _____

Label the parts of the human urinary system, including the human kidney, in the diagram below. Give the function/purpose of each part.

- kidneys removes nitrogens, salts, & water from blood
- adrenal glands produce epinephrine & norepinephrine
- ureter drains kidney into the bladder
- urinary bladder Stores urine until it can be released
- urethra drains urinary bladder to
- renal artery Artery leading to kidneys - brings "dirty" blood
- renal vein vein leading away from kidneys - removes "clean" blood
- cortex outer layer of kidney
- medulla inner layer of kidney - contains many nephrons
- renal pelvis drains each nephron - central area, collects urine

Fill in the blanks below with the correct answers.

Kidneys are the "filters" of the excretory system. They control essential balance between body salts and water. They remove from the blood nitrogenous wastes, water, urea, nonvolatile foreign substances, excess salt and excess water. The kidney is enclosed by a connective tissue capsule and is divided into an outer cortex and an inner medulla. The Loop of Henle functions chiefly for water resorption. The liquid waste, urine, collected by the kidneys passes through the ureter to the urinary bladder. Urinary bladder is a strong muscular organ that stores the urine until it can be excreted via the urethra.

Hormones Joy Hinson, Peter Raven, 2019 This primer introduces students to key elements of the endocrine system including the structure and function of the major types of hormones It explores the role of hormones in disease in development in reproduction and in behaviour Although humans are its main focus it draws on illuminating examples from a range of other species including sex changes and aggression in fish metamorphosis in amphibians induction of ovulation in different species and bonding behaviour in birds The final section of the book looks at ways in which hormones can be used in medicine and agriculture and can be abused to enhance sporting performance and weight loss This primer will expand the breadth and depth of student understanding of the endocrine system its variety and its huge importance

Hormones Etienne-Emile Baulieu (ed), Paul A. Kelly, 1990-11-30 Endocrinology is a field in which enormous advances have been made in the last decade the rate of discovery of new hormones hormone like molecules receptors and mechanisms of action is continually advancing The development of techniques in immunology and molecular biology has led to the possibility of describing in detail the gene structure of many of the compounds involved in hormonal systems Remarkable homology has been shown between oncogene products and various components of the endocrine network leading to the assertion that deregulation of hormonal function is involved in the generation and or development of cancer We now know that the central nervous system is both a target and a production site of many hormonal products and that hormones neurotransmitters growth factors and immunopeptides all act through similar mechanisms The only second messenger known ten years ago was cAMP today calcium derivatives of membrane phospholipids and protein kinases are also known to be mediators of hormone action The very concept of hormonal systems has been expanded to include not only endocrine secretions but also para and autohormones and their mechanisms of action an understanding of their functions will be central to the immediate future of medicine The discovery of hormonal molecules and endocrine interactions and the subsequent understanding of hormone related pathophysiology has led to the development of new strategies in medical treatment such as fertility control and the management of diabetes
