Icrc Annual Report 2007:

The International Committee of the Red Cross in Internal Armed Conflicts Rajeesh Kumar, 2018-09-29 This book critically examines the possible dilution of the neutrality principle of the International Committee of the Red Cross ICRC in internal armed conflicts It begins with the proposition that the intervention of ICRC in internal armed conflicts led to compromises in neutrality and questioned the autonomy and independence of the organization The book also argues that the field operations of the international humanitarian organizations during internal armed conflicts are dependent on the authority exercised by the state in whose territory the conflict persists The ICRC's involvement in Sri Lanka and Sudan provides empirical support to validate these propositions and arguments The cases also show that for the ICRC it is hard to be neutral and impartial in situations of internal armed conflicts and such conflicts present formidable challenges to maintain its organization autonomy as well The larger purpose of the book is to contribute to the policy re formulation of the international humanitarian organizations in internal armed conflict the most significant challenge in the field at present The 1949 Geneva

Conventions Andrew Clapham, Paola Gaeta, Marco Sassòli, 2015-10-15 The four Geneva Conventions adopted in 1949 remain the fundamental basis of contemporary international humanitarian law They protect the wounded and sick on the battlefield those wounded sick or shipwrecked at sea prisoners of war and civilians in time of war However since they were adopted warfare has changed considerably In this groundbreaking commentary over sixty international law experts investigate the application of the Geneva Conventions and explain how they should be interpreted today It places the Conventions in the light of the developing obligations imposed by international law on states armed groups and individuals most notably through international human rights law and international criminal law The context in which the Conventions are to be applied and interpreted has changed considerably since they were first written The borderline between international and non international armed conflicts is not as clear cut as was once thought and is complicated further by the use of armed force mandated by the United Nations and the complex mixed and transnational nature of certain non international armed conflicts The influence of other developing branches of international law such as human rights law and refugee law has been considerable The development of international criminal law has breathed new life into multiple provisions of the Geneva Conventions This commentary adopts a thematic approach to provide detailed analysis of each key issue dealt with by the Conventions taking into account both judicial decisions and state practice Cross cutting chapters on issues such as transnational conflicts and the geographical scope of the Conventions also give readers a full understanding of the meaning of the Geneva Conventions in their contemporary context Prepared under the auspices of the Geneva Academy of International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights this commentary on four of the most important treaties in international law is unmissable for anyone working in or studying situations of armed conflicts Asia's Role in Governing Global Health Kelley Lee, Tikki Pang, Yeling Tan, 2013 This book investigates the neglected question of the impact of a rising Asia on the management of transboundary health problems The chapters examine the role played by Asia in the governance of a range of global health issues and are tied together by a common focus on Asian countries use of the sovereignty principle In addition the contributors examine the interaction between global regional and domestic institutions and present current ideas in Asia on the challenge of governing global health Handbook of Humanitarian Health Care Logistics George Mc

Ventura,2019-11-28 This book challenges the traditional approach to international law by concentrating on international humanitarian law and placing the focus beyond States it reflects on current legal policy and practical issues that concern non State actors in and around situations of armed conflict With the emergence of the nation State international law was almost entirely focused on inter State relations thus excluding for the most part non State entities In the modern era such a focus needs to be adjusted in order to encompass the various types of functions and interactions that those entities perform throughout numerous international decision making processes The contributions that comprise this volume are oriented towards a broad readership audience in the academic and professional fields related to international humanitarian law international criminal law international human rights law and general public international law Ezequiel Heffes LLM is a Thematic Legal Adviser in the Policy and Legal Unit at Geneva Call in Geneva Switzerland Marcos D Kotlik LLM is Academic Coordinator at the Observatory of International Humanitarian Law of the University of Buenos Aires School of Law and was a Judicial Fellow at the International Court of Justice between 2018 2019 and Manuel J Ventura LLM Hons is an Associate Legal Officer in the Office of the Prosecutor at the International Residual Mechanism for Criminal Tribunals an Adjunct Fellow at the School of Law at Western Sydney University and a Director of The Peace and Justice Initiative Humanitarian Response Index 2008 DARA (Development Assistance Research Associates),2016-01-18 The purpose of this annual report is to develop an index of good humanitarian donorship that will measure donors effectiveness against their commitment to the Principles and Good Practise of Humanitarian Donorship The index is intended to help the international donor community to better understand its strengths and weaknesses in order to improve the efficiency and quality of its donor activities and initiatives The index is also expected to raise awareness about the increasingly important role of humanitarian action and associated good practices beyond its current core constituencies We believe that this report offers significant potential to improve the quality of humanitarian aid benefiting those most affected by both man made and natural disasters Department for International Development annual report 2007 Great Britain: Department for International Development,2007-05-22 This annual report details the work and expenditure of the Department for International Development DFID during the period April 2006 to March 2007 working as part of the wider international effort to tackle world poverty and promote the sustainable development of low income countries The report includes chapters on reducing poverty in Africa and Asia and progress

Obligations of Non-State Armed Groups Daragh Murray, 2016-05-05 This book is concerned with the international regulation of non state armed groups Specifically it examines the possibility of subjecting armed groups to international human rights law obligations First addressed is the means by which armed groups may be bound by international law Of particular interest is the de facto control theory and the possibility that international law may be applied in the absence of direct treaty regulation Application of this theory is dependent upon an armed group s establishment of an independent existence as demonstrated by the displacement of state authority This means that armed groups are treated as a vertical authority thereby maintaining the established hierarchy of international regulation At issue therefore is not a radical approach to the regulation of non state actors but rather a modification of the traditional means of application in response to the reality of the situation The attribution of international human rights law obligations to armed groups is then addressed in light of potential ratione personae restrictions International human rights law treaties are interpreted in light of the contemporary international context on the basis that an international instrument has to be applied within the framework of the entire legal system prevailing at the time of interpretation Armed groups status as vertical authorities facilitates the vertical application of international human rights law in a manner consistent with both the object and purpose of the law and its foundation in human dignity Finally if international human rights law is to be applied to armed groups its application must be effective in practice A context dependent division of responsibility between the territorial state and the armed group is proposed The respect protect fulfil framework is adapted to facilitate the application of human rights obligations in a manner consistent with the control exerted by both the state and the armed group Daragh Murray s book analyses the practical and theoretical difficulties associated with the topic of the international human rights obligations of non state armed groups by considering the latest developments in this field and suggesting ways forward His proposals are realistic and carefully argued this book should be essential reading for anyone grappling with this subject Andrew Clapham Professor of International Law at the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies Promoting Human Rights in Burma Morten B. Pedersen, 2008 Since 1988 when Burma s military rulers crushed a popular uprising Western governments have promoted democracy as a panacea for the country s manifold development problems Morten B Pedersen argues that Western democracy rhetoric has not supplied the solution to these problems Based on extensive field research Promoting Human Rights in Burma proposes an alternative model of critical engagement that emphasizes more pragmatic efforts to help bring a deeply divided society together and promote socioeconomic development as the basis for longer term political change
