Identity Formation, Youth, and Development James E. Cote, Charles Levine, 2015-06-12 The concept of identity is one of the most important ideas the social sciences have investigated in recent years yet no

introductory textbooks are available to those who want to gain a sense of this burgeoning field The first of its kind this text provides an introduction to the scientific study of identity formation with a focus on youth development The analyses of the problems and prospects faced by contemporary young people in forming identities are placed in the context of societies that themselves are in transition further complicating identity formation and the interrelated processes of self development and moral ethical reasoning In order to sort through what is now a vast literature on the various aspects of human identity this book introduces the Simplified Identity Formation Theory This theory cuts through much of the academic jargon that limits the accessibility of this promising field and builds an understanding of human identity from first principles This book is optimized for students and instructors featuring several useful pedagogical tools and a robust series of online resources Primer format the text synthesizes the vast and disparate literature that has characterized the field of Identity Studies with a focus on identity formation during the transition to adulthood theory and research is discussed in plain non technical language using the author s new Simplified Identity Formation Theory In text pedagogy to enhance student engagement box insert and in text examples from current events popular culture and social media are incorporated throughout the text key terms are in bold in each chapter and combined in a glossary at the end of the text Online resources for instructors A robust set of resources that when combined with the text provides a complete blueprint for designing an identity course resources include PowerPoint Presentations test bank sample syllabi and instructor manuals for both face to face and online courses that include weekly written assignment questions and discussion forum questions along with essay topic ideas and grading rubrics Online resources for students a student manual flashcards practice quizzes and exercises with video links

Suicidal behavior and depression among perinatal women: Research, Prevention, Intervention and Treatment Yari Gvion,Sami Hamdan ,Vita Poštuvan,2024-10-01 Suicide is a multifaceted phenomenon with numerous contributing and facilitating factors and variables Despite motherhood serving as a potential protective factor against suicidal tendencies a notable prevalence of suicidality persists among pregnant and postpartum women making suicide a leading cause of death among women with postpartum depression PDD Furthermore numerous women experience emotional challenges during pregnancy which often persist into the postpartum phase thus making them also susceptible to depression and suicidality This Research Topic is dedicated to studies exploring various approaches to suicidal behavior depression as well as of non suicidal self injury NSSI among pregnant and postpartum women The purpose of this Research Topic is to elucidate comprehensive analyses of extant knowledge and empirical data about models theories and specific dimensions and variables that may help us increase the understanding of suicidal phenomena among perinatal women pregnant and postpartum The specific goal is to identify characteristics that may be used to develop prevention and intervention methods among this at risk population Slope Stability and Erosion Control: Ecotechnological Solutions Joanne E. Norris,Alexia Stokes,Slobodan B. Mickovski,Erik Cammeraat,Rens van Beek,Bruce C. Nicoll,Alexis Achim,2008-02-29 This chapter describes the processes involved in the transport of material over hillslopes Hillslopes provide the gradients enabling material to be transported from the slopes themselves towards the valley bottoms directly by gravity alone or by water flowing down over the surface Gravity has the potential to transfer material downslope if the material resistance to counteract it is insufficient Similarly water and wind flowing along the surface exert a drag on soil particles and have the potential to entrain material After the gradient has fallen below a critical threshold to keep the material in transport deposition occurs Conventionally slope processes in which gravity alone is the dominant transporting agent are called mass movements Brunsden 1984 Processes in which other agents dominate are called erosion e g wind or water erosion Flowing water is an important transporting agent on which the emphasis is placed here Although mass wasting is a natural process its incidence and impact may be exacerbated by human activities Crozier 1986 Morgan 2005 A situation may ultimately arise in which human interests become unsafe or unsustainable This impact is not only directly felt in the areas where material is removed or deposited and indirectly mass wasting may have an effect on soil and water quality in areas located further downstream In the following sections a brief overview is given of the mechanisms morphology causes and consequences of mass movements and erosion

The Neuropsychology of Attention Ronald A. Cohen, 2013-12-11 It has been 15 years since the original publication of Neuropsychology of Attention At the time of its publication attention was a construct that had long been of theoretical interest in the field of psychology and was receiving increased research by cognitive scientists Yet attention was typically viewed as a nuisance variable a factor that needed to be accounted for when assessing brain function but of limited importance in its own right There is a need for a new edition of this book within Neuropsychology to present an updated and integrated review of what is known about attention the disorders that affect it and approaches to its clinical assessment and treatment Such a book will provide perspectives for experimental neuropsychological study of attention and also provide clinicians with insights on how to approach this neuropsychological domain
