Which kind of questions should judges ask when culture enters the horizon of the law Are they then called to become anthropologists Through the analysis of hundreds of cases produced through decades of multicultural jurisprudence this book reconstructs the constitutional and anthropological narratives and the legal techniques used by Western judges to face the challenges posed by multiculturalism from Japanese parent child suicide to the burqa from Jewish circumcision to Roma begging from kissing a son on his genitals to the claim of indigenous people to fish salmon in natural parks the book brings the reader into a fascinating journey at the crux of the encounter between the relativism of anthropology and the endeavor
