Wealth and the Built Environment Emilio Jos Garca, Brenda Vale, 2025-04-26 The need to address global environmental problems is urgent The United Nations 17 Sustainable Development Goals SDGs cover a wide range of global concerns from poverty hunger and gender equity to justice and climate action Concerningly the SDGs still have faith in economic growth and technological innovation as the means of fixing all global concerns including climate change What is not questioned is whether solving development and sustainability problems through economic growth for the accumulation of wealth for the few has led to many of the current unequal development and environmental problems If unfair growth and wealth accumulation have been part of the problem how can they be part of the solution The problem with the SDGs is that their fulfilment relies on wealth creation without the fundamental concomitant of wealth redistribution. The one common driver of change affecting both sustainability and development that has not been included in the SDGs is wealth. The central focus of this book, SDG 11 sustainable cities and communities, presents a further paradox unless the issue of wealth and its fair distribution is grasped. Cities are the places where wealth is generated but are also places where only a minority are wealthy. The wealth generated in cities leads to higher consumption of resources, higher emissions and higher disparities and inequalities. However, any version of a sustainable future will happen in the built environment made according to current ideals like the present belief in overcoming all humanity's problems by becoming wealthier. A fundamental assumption of this book is that the first step toward a fairer habitat that can be maintained with the resources available is only possible if we stop designing cities and buildings as if everyone were wealthy or had to become wealthy. To achieve this goal, it is essential to identify and raise awareness of the impact of wealth, to question how the myths about the advantages of wealth were built, where they come from, what shape they take in the built environment and who benefits from them.

Enlightened Marketing in Challenging Times Felipe Pantoja, Shuang Wu, Nina Krey, 2020-09-17. This volume explores the interconnection of social, political, technological and economic challenges that impact consumer relationships, new product launches and consumer interests. Featuring contributions presented at the 2019 Academy of Marketing Science (AMS) World Marketing Congress (WMC) held in Edinburgh, Scotland, the theme of this proceedings draws from the Scottish Enlightenment movement of the mid Eighteenth Century which centered on ideas of liberty, progress and the scientific method. The core values of this movement are being challenged by the rapidly changing, globally shifting and digitally connected world. The contributions presented in this volume reflect and reframe the roles of marketers and marketing in incorporating and advancing the ideas of the Scottish Enlightenment within contemporary marketing theory and practice. Founded in 1971, the Academy of Marketing Science is an international organization dedicated to promoting timely explorations of phenomena related to the science of marketing in theory, research and practice. Among its services to members and the community at large, the Academy offers conferences, congresses and symposia that attract delegates from around the world. Presentations from these events are published in this Proceedings series which offers a comprehensive archive of volumes reflecting the evolution of the field. The series deliver cutting edge research and insights complementing the Academy's flagship journals, the Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science (JAMS) and AMS Review. AMSR Volumes are edited by leading scholars and practitioners across a wide range of subject areas in marketing science.
