Europe Rehoused Studies In International Planning History:

Europe Rehoused Elizabeth Denby, 2014-09-19 Europe Rehoused was one of the most influential housing texts of the 1930s and is still widely cited. Written by the housing consultant Elizabeth Denby 1894-1965, it offered a survey of the nearly two decades of social housing built across Europe since the end of World War One with the aim of informing British policy makers as a reviewer declared it has a decidedly propagandist flavour. Denby was a leading figure in housing debates in the 1930s. Adopting a line in sharp critique of what she saw as the entirely materialist approach of state housing policy, Denby advocated the incorporation of social amenities alongside well designed and equipped flats and houses ideally sited within urban areas. By the late 1930s she was a pioneering advocate of the concept of mixed development. Europe Rehoused is divided into two parts. The first considered the origins of the housing problem of the inter war decades which Denby dated to the onset of the Industrial Revolution. She then examined the various national factors which influenced the problem: climate, post war economy and the nature of land ownership. Finally she discussed the financial aspect, the bodies responsible for house building and the nature of the subsidies available for building. This was very much a schematic survey and the second and largest part of the book was devoted to individual studies of European practice and discussed two winners in the War, two losers and two neutrals: Sweden, Holland, Germany, Vienna, Italy and France. This section was completed with a concluding chapter in which she compared continental work with the British system and the lessons that could be learnt in this country from abroad. Although Denby's book was not the only one of its sort, its importance lies in its polemical nature and its advocacy of a rehousing policy which would become widely adopted after WWII. Significant too is that the book is the voice of a woman who had assumed a significant status as a housing expert in the inter war decades. Walter Gropius who wrote the introduction to the US edition of the book observed that the book carried the weight of perfect expertness. Such voices have for too long been overlooked yet Denby was formed part of a very strong tradition of women reformers who worked to reshape the inter war and post war British built environment.

Creating Economic Space for Social Innovation Alex Nicholls, Rafael Ziegler, 2019-12-12 This book draws upon economic and sociological theory to provide a comprehensive discussion of economic space for social innovation, addressing especially marginalized groups and the long term projects, programmes and policies that have emerged and evolved within and across European states. It approaches the explanatory and normative questions raised by this topic via a novel approach, the Extended Social Grid Model (ESGM). Taking inspiration from the fields of economic sociology and ethics, this model shows that social innovation processes must be structural and require change in power relations if marginalization is to be effectively dealt with via social innovation. Part I of the book sets out the ESGM, including an exposition on the model along with background chapters on innovation, power and marginalization, ethics and social innovation and empirical methods. Part II explores the model with a focus on social innovation trajectories of social housing, drinking water provision, employment, education and food provision. It also explores the operationalization of the model with a view to agency and empowerment as well as social innovation policy in Europe and the use of social impact bonds as a tool for financing social innovation Part III revisits the ESGM and considers the explanatory adequacy and fruitfulness of the model for innovation research and for theorizing social innovation addressing questions on the role and limitations of participation in social innovation for the marginalized the role of capital for creating economic space for capabilities and how we can approach the social impact of social innovation This collection of essays presents a diverse range of perspectives on understanding and addressing the key issue of marginalization and offers key recommendations for policy makers engaging with social innovation across the European Union and beyond Europe

post war architectural reconstruction after 1945 the earlier developments of the interwar period 1919 1939 have been comparatively overlooked This volume reveals how the architectural developments of this period not only provided important foundations for what happened after 1945 they are also of real significance in their own right Sixteen essays written by leading and emerging scholars bring together new and diverse approaches to the period a period of reconstruction fraught with the challenges of modernity and democratisation The collection considers the complex effects of reconstruction on design discourse practice and professionalism and deals with the full spectrum of architectural styles and approaches privileging neither Modernism nor traditional styles like the neo Georgian It brings to the fore social and political histories of the built environment and makes important postcolonial interventions into the architectural history of British Imperialism at home and in its far reaches in Cairo South Africa Australia and India      Atlas of the Food System Teresa

Germany challenges readers to rethink preconceived ideas of the republic and throws new light on important areas such as constitutional and social reform Jewish life gender and cultural developments      John Bull's Other Homes Murray Fraser,1996-01-01 State housing became an integral part of the relationship between Ireland and Great Britain from the 1880s until the early 1990s Using research from both Irish and Westminster sources this book shows that there was recurrent pressure for the state to intervene in housing in Ireland in a period when the Irish Question was the major domestic political issue The result was that the model of subsidized state housing subsequently introduced in Britain was first developed in Ireland as a product of the tensions of British rule An important corollary of innovative Irish housing policy was its influence even in a negative sense on developments in mainland Britain This book also examines the cultural impact of imperialism and in particular the way in which British ideas of garden suburb housing and town planning design came significantly to reshape the Irish urban environment Fraser not only presents hitherto unknown material but does so in a unique interdisciplinary blend of architectural planning urban and socio economic history Walter Gropius in Britain
