Faces In The Crowd:

A Face in the Crowd Barry Spencer, 2020-06-15 The book written by an ordinary member of the public argues that in spite of concerted efforts to derail his presidency Donald Trump through his life experience embodies many of the attributes of a great president What is so remarkable is not that he was elected against all expectations but that his presidency has proved to be so successful The media has portrayed Trump in the most negative terms possible to a degree that would have destroyed a lesser man The book demonstrates that this picture is almost entirely false Trump is president at a historic moment when the nation is polarized between radical progressives striving for fundamental change and conservatives who stand by traditional values Trump is not an ideologue but a pragmatist resisting social experimentation with the potential to be one of the greatest presidents in the history of the republic

Some Faces in the Crowd Budd Schulberg, 2012-07-31 Twenty gritty stories by the Academy Award winning writer of On the Waterfront and A Face in the Crowd Despite growing up among Hollywood's most powerful producers and movie stars in the 1920s and 30s Budd Schulberg was always a populist at heart In this collection of his best short fiction Schulberg takes readers from the halls of privilege in Los Angeles to smoky dives and dockyard slums in New York His eye for detail and nose for trouble render characters as vividly as a Weegee photograph These stories also represent the great clash of people and ideas in mid century America The collection includes The Arkansas Traveler the story Schulberg adapted into the influential prescient film A Face in the Crowd starring Andy Griffith This ebook features an illustrated biography of Budd Schulberg including rare images and never before seen documents from the author's estate

Faces in the Crowd Whitechapel Art Gallery, Castello di Rivoli (Museum : Rivoli, Italy), 2004 Taking Edouard Manet as its starting point and moving through the work of major painters and sculptors such as Ensor Boccioni Duchamp Kollwitz Kirchner Beckmann Magritte Picasso Hopper Warhol Hamilton Pistoletto Richter Acconci Sherman Schutte Ofili and Kentridge as well as photographers such as Atget Brassai Evans Levitt Arnold Weegee Giacomelli Goldin and Keita Faces in the Crowd traces a history of avant garde figuration from the 1870s to today through the works of one hundred artists The great revolutions in twentieth century art tend to be associated with abstraction Yet there is a parallel history which is equally radical Manet's vividly realist scenarios or Jeff Wall's cinematic tableaux offer a compelling pictorial illusion of the modern By contrast Edvard Munch or Francis Bacon present a tortured or exhilarated inner life For Alexander Rodchenko the figure can be an agent of social change revolutionary transgressive or symbolic This catalogue accompanies the exhibition organised by the Whitechapel Gallery and the Castello di Rivoli Museum of Contemporary Art

Behavioral and Physiological Bases of Attentional Biases: Paradigms, Participants, and Stimuli Daniela M. Pfabigan,Ulrich S. Tran,2015-08-21 Attentional biases ABs play a prominent role in the development and maintenance of clinically relevant symptoms of for example anxiety and depression In particular increased attentional orienting and preoccupation with biologically relevant and mood congruent stimuli has been observed suggesting that the visual attentional system is overly sensitive towards threat cues and avoidant of cues of reward in these disorders First several experimental paradigms have been used to assess ABs e g the dot probe task the emotional stroop task and the spatial cueing task amongst others Yet these paradigms are based on different theoretical backgrounds and target different stages of the attentional process Thus different paradigms provided converging as well as diverging evidence with regard to ABs However it is often not entirely clear to what extent this reflects real differences and commonalities or is caused by differences in methodology For example behavioral reaction time data can only provide a snapshot of selective attention Measuring event related potentials eye movements or functional brain imaging data enables exploring the exact temporal and spatial dynamics of attentional processes Moreover neuroimaging data reveal specific cortical networks involved in directing attention toward a stimulus or disengaging from it Second ABs have been mainly discussed as symptoms of psychopathology while results in healthy participants are still scarce previous studies mostly compared extreme groups However a comprehensive theoretical and empirical account of ABs in psychopathology also requires a thorough account of ABs in the general healthy population Moreover the effect of gender as an important contributing factor in processing of emotional stimuli has also not been considered systematically in previous research Third a variety of stimuli has been used in the assessment of ABs So far mostly facial or word stimuli have been applied However in everyday life not only facial emotion recognition but also a fast evaluation of complex social situations is important to be effective in social interactions Recent research started using more complex stimuli to raise ecological validity However the use of ecologically valid stimuli poses some methodological challenges and needs to be applied more systematically The aim of this research topic is to integrate different paradigms and stimuli addressing individuals from the whole range of the population continuum and to apply different methodological approaches It is intended to bring together expertise in stimulus selection timing and implementing issues advancing and broadening the overall understanding of ABs

Face Perception across the Life-Span Bozana Meinhardt-Injac, Andrea Hildebrandt, 2017-03-17 Face perception is a highly evolved visual skills in humans This complex ability develops across the life span steeply rising in infancy refining across childhood and adolescence reaching highest levels in adulthood and declining in old age As such the development of face perception comprises multiple skills including sensory e g mechanisms of holistic configural and featural perception cognitive e g memory processing speed attentional control and also emotional and social e g reading and interpreting facial expression domains Whereas our understanding of specific functional domains involved in face perception is growing there is further pressing demand for a multidisciplinary approach toward a more integrated view describing how face perception ability relates to and develops with other domains of sensory and cognitive functioning In this research topic we bring together a collection of papers that provide a shot of the current state of the art of theorizing and investigating face perception from the perspective of multiple ability domains We would like to thank all authors for their valuable contributions that advanced our understanding of face and emotion perception across development

Morgan A. Brown, 2017-04-10 What if Theists and Atheists are both objectively wrong What if the Agnostics have completely missed the point THE ARGUMENT FROM GRAMMAR explores the omnipotent and omniscient God that is justified by reason in philosophy and religion Brown demonstrates that we can justify this denotation in grammatical terms by recognizing in Subjects predicate a universally valid Form of knowledge all knowledge and action all power Brown then proceeds to lay out an epistemological foundation for the human sciences drawing upon a philosophical tradition rooted in the thought of Protagoras Kant Schopenhauer and F A Hayek Brown turns his critique of theism back upon the atheists in order to show how grammatical theory can also answer arguments against the God Thesis If THE ARGUMENT FROM GRAMMAR can answer the objections of the Atheists while satisfying the Theists then the future of the debate over the existence of a rationally justified God shall be a debate over grammar and nothing more Secret Revelation Steve Bell, 2005-11 A violent

Late Modernism Robert Genter, 2011-06-06 In the thirty years after World War II American intellectual and artistic life changed as dramatically as did the rest of society Gone were the rebellious lions of modernism Joyce Picasso Stravinsky and nearing exhaustion were those who took up their mantle as abstract expressionism gave way to pop art and the barren formalism associated with the so called high modernists wilted before the hothouse cultural brew of the 1960s According to conventional thinking it was around this time that postmodernism with its characteristic skepticism and relativism was born In Late Modernism historian Robert Genter remaps the landscape of American modernism in the early decades of the Cold War tracing the combative debate among artists writers and intellectuals over the nature of the aesthetic form in an age of mass politics and mass culture Dispensing with traditional narratives that present this moment as marking the exhaustion of modernism Genter argues instead that the 1950s were the apogee of the movement as American practitioners abstract expressionists Beat poets formalist critics color field painters and critical theorists among others debated the relationship between form and content tradition and innovation aesthetics and politics In this compelling work of intellectual and cultural history Genter presents an invigorated tradition of late modernism centered on the work of Kenneth Burke Ralph Ellison C Wright Mills David Riesman Jasper Johns Norman Brown and James Baldwin a tradition that overcame the conservative and reactionary politics of competing modernist practitioners and paved the way for the postmodern turn of the 1960s
