

Unit 1 – Unit 1.1 – Models of Administrative ManagementIntroduction

The primary of a multinational firm is facilitated by examining the central issues and identifying the essential administrative and management and structural policy requirements to the degree which multinationals are facilitated among the MNCs, which means other nations have specific central issues to provide administrative issues for the multinational of great importance.

Multinationals are mostly big internationally headquartered firms. These firms are the primary point of comparison, representing the administrative differences of the multinational. The multinationals are used as the administrative point of comparison. Representing another primary of the multinationals, the examples of public firms are typically strategic business units, which are the primary point of comparison and the multinationals will be compared. In the other hand, the comparison of public firms is representative of the business and the business units are compared to the business and public firms.

Key Points

1. What is a multinational? (What are the issues that are public multinational firms?)

A multinational is a company that operates in more than one country. It is a company that has a global presence and is not limited to a single country.

2. What are the 7 different models of multinational?

There are seven different models of multinational firms: the global model, the regional model, the domestic model, the international model, the transnational model, the multinational model, and the global model.

3. What is a global model?
