

Genetics Practice Problems: Pedigree Tables

Remember the following when working pedigree tables:

- [I] Circles are females and squares are males.
- [I] A shaded circle or square indicates that a person has the trait.

The pedigree chart below is the inheritance of color blindness. Shaded individuals are colorblind. First, determine the probable genotype of person I-1. Then answer the questions below the table.

What is the genotype of the mother of I-1?

Since pedigree I-1 had a color blind son (II-2), his dad has to pass on his color blind allele from his mother. Since the mother is not shaded, she must be a carrier.

What is color blindness and the inheritance pattern related to it? Is it autosomal or sex-linked?

Yes, color blindness is a sex-linked trait. It is autosomal recessive. From this pedigree, I can see that it is autosomal recessive. From this pedigree.

What numbers II and IV were colorblind. How many have color blindness (X)?

That number is 10. The color blind trait is autosomal recessive.

What must be the genotype of the parents of a color blind daughter? Explain.

To have a color blind daughter, she must have the recessive allele from both parents. Her father must be X^bY and mother must have the X^bX^b or X^bX.

If mother II-3 has a normal son, what is the probability that their son will be colorblind?

X^BX^B x X^BY → all of their sons will have color blind.
