Teaching and Time Poverty Greg Thompson, Anna Hogan, 2024-12-04 As teacher shortages reach a global crisis point this book explores how time poverty has become a critical factor in the working lives of teachers and school leaders Arguing that we need to move away from framing the problem of teachers work as simply workload this book suggests that understanding time poverty is the first step in moving toward more manageable working lives The book brings together international perspectives on teacher time poverty drawing on theoretical and empirical work to underscore the growing complexity of teachers work and how this impacts job satisfaction stress and feeling that there is never enough time to accomplish all that needs to be done Many policy solutions misdiagnose the problems of teachers work simply suggesting it is an issue of workload The chapters investigate issues of work intensification finding that teachers are not only working longer but also working harder as they manage more complex classrooms and policy mandates This book is essential reading for those interested in understanding how current education policy both produces time poverty and could better identify and respond to the complexities of teachers work An Empirical Approach to Preparing Children for Starting School Karen Wickett, 2019-08-30 This book presents an exploration of the beliefs held by parents Early Childhood Education and Care ECEC practitioners and teachers and their relationships during children s transition to school This exploration was prompted by the author s observations that the relationships between ECEC practitioners and teachers became increasingly strained when the term school readiness was introduced to the EYFS Drawing on the findings of empirical research the book presents the four qualities of relationships between parents ECEC practitioners and teachers during children s transition to school Unlike many current texts this book extends the transition to include the phases of preparation and adjustment and explores how the qualities of relationships between parents ECEC practitioners and teachers can change throughout the phases of the transition The conceptual framework The Relational Transition to School is developed and is a useful tool for researchers and those working together to explore the qualities of relationships between those supporting children during a transition An Empirical Approach to Preparing Children for Starting School will be of great interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the field of early childhood education as well as those training to be early years practitioners

The Two Directions Formulating a Crisis in Primary Catholic School Leadership Rachel Gould, 2018-07-27 Since the year 2000 there has been a statistically high proportion of head teachers leaving the profession While there have been studies conducted to predict when this exodus would conclude the actual reasons for why senior people are leaving their positions have not been explored so far Schools have found replacing head teachers increasingly difficult and the inevitable leadership crisis has been well documented by both scholars and the media The leadership crisis has been most noticeable within the Catholic Primary School sector where statistics have consistently shown an issue with recruiting people to headship positions This book considers the reasons for the crisis and looks at potential solutions It identifies what the leadership crisis encompasses from the negativity of the education system including headship accountability the work life balance and salary whilst also offsetting this with possible supporting solutions such as the value of acting headship succession planning and talent spotting from the beginning of a teacher's career

Global Childhoods Monica Edwards, 2025-02-28 This up to date text is suitable for students on all early years courses that include a module on global childhoods Taking an ecological approach it examines how culture and society shape childhoods through considering the lived experiences of children internationally It begins by questioning the meaning of childhood and explores the historical cultural and social views of childhood and children including the roles of race class and gender It considers families and parenting from a global perspective and progresses to examine the relationship between the state and children by evaluating international approaches to education health and welfare and the ways inequalities between the minority and majority world impact on children The role of research on and with children in informing these debates is fully explored Most importantly the reader is challenged to reflect on how global perspectives can be used to support an understanding of inclusion and diversity in their practice

Gender, Education and Work Christine Eden, 2017-03-27 Girls outperform boys in educational achievement yet women in work are less well paid are underrepresented in positions of power and carry a disproportionate burden of care and childcare Gender Education and Work analyses and interprets the latest data and research in the field to offer detailed historical and sociological explanations for this continuing inequity exploring different dimensions of inequality and how they intersect With discussion questions and selected further reading to support reflection on your own understanding and assumptions it covers key topics Historical approaches to the education of girls and women Key theories and debates Patterns of achievement and intersectionality Attainment gaps and socio economic status Ethnicity and attainment gaps Gender in the classroom and gender identity in schools Patterns of employment and the nature of work The gender pay gap Women's experience of work Gender Education and Work provides the arguments together with the historical evidence and research data required by serious education studies and sociology students engaged in the analysis of this urgent and complex topic
