Up Schooling Silvano Tagliagambe,2016-11-08 We all agree that the growth of knowledge and democratic organisation are the two pillars that must support education and they must therefore constitute the foundations of every idea of school If we then ask ourselves what these two cornerstones have in common it is difficult to discard the idea that the distinctive trait they share is that both are the expression of organisational methods which are not only dynamic but able to constantly challenge their own institutions and meanings without crystallising them and removing them from the scrutiny of critical thought This leads to a clear cut conclusion if the school really wants to educate young people in knowledge and democracy it must adhere to those same guiding principles and tangibly apply them in its practice There is only one way to do this properly by showing a plurality and ramification of different potentialities that will indicate a true capacity for opening up to the overwhelming proliferation of theory that distinguishes our times avoiding all forms of mundane banalisation and by contending with the new and the unforeseen training minds that will be able to cope with them The idea of school presented in this book has been created and developed on this central nucleus which gives it its hallmark

Collaboration and the Future of Education Gordon Andrews, Wilson J. Warren, James Cousins, 2015-10-08 Current educational reforms have given rise to various types of educational Taylorism which encourage the creation of efficiency models in pursuit of a unified way to teach In history education curricula this has been introduced through scripted textbook based programs such as Teacher Curriculum Institute's History Alive and completely online curricula They include the jargon of authentic methods such as primary sources cooperative learning differentiated instruction and access to technology yet the craft of teaching is removed and an experience that should be marked by discovery and reflection is replaced with comparatively empty processes This volume provides systematic models and examples of ways that history teachers can compete with and effectively halt this transformation The alternatives the authors present are based on collaborative models that address the art of teaching for pre service and practicing secondary history teachers as well as collegiate history educators Relying on original research and a maturing body of secondary literature on historical thinking this book illuminates how collaboration can create real historical learning

Teaching Dilemmas and Solutions in Content-Area Literacy, Grades 6-12 Peter Smagorinsky, 2014-08-19 Because literacy is not just the English teacher's job Think literacy is just for English teachers Not anymore Nor should it be when you consider that each discipline has its own unique values and means of expression These days it's up to all teachers to communicate what it means to be literate in their disciplines Here finally is a book ambitious enough to tackle the topic across all major subject areas Engage in this cross disciplinary conversation with seasoned teachers and university researchers and learn how to develop curriculum and instruction that are responsive to students needs across English language arts science social studies mathematics visual space and music and drama Peter Smagorinsky and his colleagues provide an insider's lens on both the states of their fields and their specific literacy demands including Reviews of current issues and state of the art research informing literacy education Scenario based activities for reflection and discussion typifying the dilemmas and challenges faced by practicing teachers Considerations of the textual forms and conventions required in each discipline Specific policy recommendations Read this book on your own for immediate suggestions on how to improve literacy instruction within your course of study Better yet share it with colleagues and participate in a larger conversation about how your literacy expectations influence the ways students read and produce texts in other disciplines
