

WHAT IS GEOGRAPHY?

Geography is the study of places and the relationships between people and their environments.

A geographer is a physical scientist, social scientist or humanist whose area of study is geography. They explore the physical properties of Earth and the human behaviour across it.

There are three types of geography: physical geography (the effects it has on people and the environment), human geography (concerned with people) and environmental geography (how people behaviour can affect the environment).

The Practical Teacher ,1885 People of Today ,2006 Environmental Hazards and Resilience Dennis J. Parker,Edmund C. Penning-Rowsell,2021-08-26 Building resilience to the world s increasingly damaging environmental hazards has become a priority This book considers the scientific advances which have been made around the world to enhance this resilience Although resilience is not new it is through the idea of resilience that governments organisations and communities around the world are now seeking to address the rapidly increasing losses that environmental hazards cause so that fewer lives are lost and damage is reduced Alternative ideas and approaches have been helpful in reducing loss but resilience offers a fresh and potentially effective means of reducing it further Adopting a scientific approach and scientific evidence is important in applying the resilience idea in hazard mitigation However the science of resilience is at an immature stage of development with much discussion about the concept and how it should be understood and interpreted Building useful theories remains a challenge although some of the building blocks of theory have been developed More attention has been given to developing indicators and frameworks of resilience which are subsequently applied to measure resilience to hazards such as flooding earthquake and climate change Environmental Hazards and Resilience Theory and Evidence considers the scientific and theoretical challenges of making progress in applying resilience to environmental hazard mitigation and provides examples from around the world including the USA New Zealand China Bangladesh and elsewhere The chapters in this book were originally published in the Environmental Hazards International Catalogue of Scientific Literature ,1903 General Catalogue of Printed Books British Museum. Department of Printed Books,1969 Education and climate change Samantha Govender,Mncedisi C Maphalala,Dumisani W. Mncube,2025-06-15 The book highlights the critical yet often overlooked role of education in combating climate change It advocates for a transformative educational framework that integrates social emotional learning and interdisciplinary collaboration Traditional education which focuses solely on factual knowledge is deemed insufficient Instead education should foster empathy provide hands on experiences and encourage active engagement in climate solutions The book outlines various ways education can drive climate action such as raising awareness preparing individuals for green jobs empowering communities and fostering innovation in higher education It highlights the interconnectedness of climate change and education particularly for marginalised populations showing how quality education can enhance both mitigation and adaptation strategies while supporting Sustainable Development Goal SDG 4 and SDG 13 Key chapters discuss successful initiatives such as the Keep it Cool Climate Change Education KIC CCE project in South Africa and offer strategies for integrating climate change education into subjects like Natural Sciences and Geography Ultimately the book positions education as a strategic tool for promoting sustainable development and building climate resilience New research findings presented in the book connect education to climate change highlighting education as both a tool to address climate issues and a domain affected by these issues The book integrates empirical evidence innovative theories and practical examples to ensure intellectual integrity and academic rigour It introduces a unique framework that emphasises social emotional learning action oriented teaching and interdisciplinary collaboration Case studies such as the KIC CCE initiative in South Africa illustrate these concepts The book critiques traditional models and advocates for transformative approaches to climate education aligning with SDG 4 Quality Education and SDG 13 Climate Action It also highlights the significance of teacher preparedness community empowerment gender equality and innovation providing valuable insights for scholars policymakers and practitioners addressing the climate crisis
