

Sample Essay on Legalization of Guns

Legalization of guns is one of the widely debated topics in the world. Today, there are many people out there who possess guns. In many occasion, guns have been seen as the criminal element of the society. In many countries, possession of guns is seen as a means of self-defense for every citizen. In a sense, there is a deep history on the legalization of guns in the world. This goes back to historical times when war of independence was fought by the people of a certain country.

Each century has seen the development of more advanced and high quality weapons. However, the great expansion and growth of cities or countries in the 19th century has led to increased crimes and multiple threats from marauding tribes from different countries and even carnivorous animals. This led to the emergence of a deeply rooted gun culture. Children and women also have been required to know how to operate guns as great way to protect on another. Hence, the earn desire for legalization of guns.

Evidently, for more than 200 years, the need for weapons for the purpose of self-defense has drastically reduced. This has all been due to the many effects of possession and legalization of guns. Guns in parts of the world like US have become a part of the national identity with everybody in the country owning a gun legally or illegally. The subject of legalization of guns has generated social and political debate with United States and other parts of the world.

A lot of tragedies have been reported now and then. A lot has also been said about concealed weapons. Nevertheless, it is upon the government and the people to stop violence and use of guns illegally. According to a Small Arms Survey poll, there are 88 guns for every 100 people in the US. 67% of all homicides in the US are related to gun violence and more so possession of illegal guns.
