Alice Pinto, 2014-07-11 Climate change urban sprawl abandonment of agriculture intensification of forestry and agriculture changes in energy generation and use expansion of infrastructure networks habitat destruction and degradation and other drivers of change occur at increasing rates They affect patterns and processes in forest landscapes and modify ecosystem services derived from those ecosystems Consequently rapidly changing landscapes present many new challenges to scientists and managers While it is not uncommon to encounter the terms global change and landscape together in the ecological literature a global analyses of drivers of change in forest landscapes and their ecological consequences have not been addressed adequately That is the goal of this volume an exploration of the state of knowledge of global changes in forested landscapes with emphasis on causes and effects and challenges faced by researchers and land managers Initial chapters identify and describe major agents of landscape change climate fire and human activities The next series of chapters address implications of changes on ecosystem services biodiversity conservation and carbon flux A chapter that describes methodologies of detecting and monitoring landscape changes is presented followed by chapter that highlights the many challenges forest landscape managers face amidst of global change Finally we present a summary and a synthesis of the main points presented in the book Each chapter will contain the individual research experiences of chapter authors augmented by review and synthesis of global scientific literature on relevant topics as well as critical input from multiple peer reviewers

Behavioural Responses to a Changing World Bob B. M. Wong, Ulrika Candolin, 2025-04-23 For many animals behavioural adjustments represent the first response to human modified conditions By improving reproduction and survival such adjustments can play the lead in maintaining viable populations in the face of rapid environmental change Behavioural responses however can also be maladaptive and reduce individual fitness particularly if favourable reaction norms have not yet evolved because animals are encountering conditions that they have never experienced before Clearly behaviour matters But how can we capitalise on our understanding of animal behaviour to improve conservation and management outcomes Behavioural Responses to a Changing World Challenges and Applications a companion volume to the first edition published in 2012 examines wildlife behavioural responses to human induced environmental change through a translational lens Despite considerable and growing interest in research on the topic the predictive value and practical application of what has been learned remains underappreciated and underutilized in the context of developing real world solutions To redress this the current book builds upon the foundations of the original volume but with a more applied perspective that focuses on highlighting how different forms of environmental challenges from climate change to urbanisation influence animal behaviour and how we can effectively harness knowledge of animal behaviour to effect practical solutions to predicting and mitigating the weighty impacts of a radically changed and changing world Future Directions for Intelligent Systems and Information Sciences Nikola Kasabov, 2013-11-11 This edited volume comprises invited chapters that cover five areas of the current and the future development of intelligent systems and information sciences Half of the chapters were presented as invited talks at the Workshop Future Directions for Intelligent Systems and Information Sciences held in Dunedin New Zealand 22 23 November 1999 after the International Conference on Neuro Information Processing ICONIP ANZIISI ANNES 99 held in Perth Australia In order to make this volume useful for researchers and academics in the broad area of information sciences I invited prominent researchers to submit materials and present their view about future paradigms future trends and directions Part I contains chapters on adaptive evolving learning systems These are systems that learn in a life long on line mode and in a changing environment The first chapter written by the editor presents briefly the paradigm of Evolving Connectionist Systems ECOS and some of their applications The chapter by Sung Bae Cho presents the paradigms of artificial life and evolutionary programming in the context of several applications mobile robots adaptive agents of the WWW The following three chapters written by R Duro J Santos and J A Becerra chapter 3 G Coghill chapter 4 Y Maeda chapter 5 introduce new techniques for building adaptive learning robots Educating for Sustainability in a Small Island Nation Jane Spiteri, 2023-01-19 This volume problematizes the intentions of early childhood education for sustainability ECEfS from two new perspectives the context of small island states and the bi directional intergenerational learning about the environment and sustainability that takes place in a variety of contexts including the family home and school It questions how belonging to a small island and the children s home influence learning in the early years of life In doing so this book offers new insights and new theoretical perspectives into intergenerational environmental learning in the school family and beyond Informed by consideration of the most recent literature in early childhood education and sustainability this volume also looks at how these informal learning spaces provide young children with the opportunities to enhance further learning in the field thus portraying the fluidity of intergenerational learning from different theoretical standpoints It provides a deep insight into ECEfS and intergenerational learning about the environment and environmental issues in early childhood education from a perspective of a small island state by adopting a children s rights perspective It additionally explores the relationship between early childhood theories children s rights and postcolonial theory The Cambridge Handbook of Language Contact Salikoko S.
