Essential Pathways and Circuits of Autism Pathogenesis Gül Dölen, Mustafa

Sahin, 2016-08-15 The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimate that 1 in 68 children in the United States is afflicted with autism spectrum disorders ASD yet at this time there is no cure for the disease Autism is characterized by delays in the development of many basic skills most notably the ability to socialize and adapt to novelty The condition is typically identified in children around 3 years of age however the high heritability of autism suggests that the disease process begins at conception The identification of over 500 ASD risk genes has enabled the molecular genetic dissection of the pathogenesis of the disease in model organisms such as mice Despite the genetic heterogeneity of ASD etiology converging evidence suggests that these disparate genetic lesions may result in the disruption of a limited number of key biochemical pathways or circuits Classification of patients into groups by pathogenic rather than etiological categories will likely aid future therapeutic development and clinical trials In this set of papers we explore the existing evidence supporting this view Specifically we focus on biochemical cascades such as mTOR and ERK signaling the mRNA network bound by FMRP and UBE3A dorsal and ventral striatal circuits cerebellar circuits hypothalamic projections as well as prefrontal and anterior cingulate cortical circuits Special attention will be given to studies that demonstrate the necessity and or sufficiency of genetic disruptions e g by molecular deletion and or replacement in these pathways and circuits for producing characteristic behavioral features of autism Necessarily these papers will be heavily weighted towards basic mechanisms elucidated in animal models but may also include investigations in patients

Dynamics of cyclic nucleotide signaling in neurons

Pierre Vincent, Nicholas C. Spitzer, 2015-09-16 Cyclic nucleotides control a number of neuronal properties including neuronal differentiation pathfinding regulation of excitability and synaptic transmission and control of gene expression Signaling events mediated by cAMP or cGMP are transient and take place within the complex 3 dimensional structure of the neuronal cell Signaling events happen on the time scale of seconds to minutes and the biological significance of the temporal dimension remains poorly understood Structural features of neurons dendritic spines and branches cell body nucleus axon as well as AKAPs and other scaffolding proteins that keep signaling enzymes together and form signaling microdomains are critical spatial determinants of signal integration Finally the types of enzymes involved in signal integration which are expressed as a number of different types and splice variants yield another dimension that determines signal integration properties Biosensor imaging provides direct temporal and spatial measurement of intracellular signals This novel approach together with more conventional methods such as biochemistry electrophysiology and modeling now provide a better understanding of the spatial and temporal features of cyclic nucleotide signal integration in living neurons This topic aims at providing a better understanding of how neurons are making sense of cyclic nucleotide signaling in living neurons

What to Do with the Least of Our Brothers? Fr. C. Ryan McCarthy, It seems at times unthinkable that a book like this would have to be written although I am relatively sure that Aldous Huxley foresaw its necessity when he wrote Brave New World But the time has arrived where babies are manufactured in sterile facilities and tested for their fitness for life in the world While we have not yet advanced sufficiently in biological sciences to entirely forego natural gestation in favor of prenatal programming process which Huxley describes we have reached the point where those unwanted embryos are set aside freeze dried and abandoned or destroyed when they do not meet the standard set for a child This book affirms the intrinsic goodness of the life of each embryo and explores from the Catholic perspective the possibility of frozen embryo rescue by adoption It looks at those arguments which see the elements of in vitro fertilization as so contrary to the faith and the natural law as to be irrecoverably intrinsically evil and rejects those in favor of a small and narrow path of adoption to fully re incorporate a child through the love of a mother and a father into the society which abandoned it Sensory Processing in Vision and Olfaction – Common Features of Key Players Thor Eysteinnsson, Debra Ann Fadool, Wallace B.
