Managing Money and Discord in the UN Ronny Patz,Klaus H. Goetz,2019-01-24 How do international organizations in the United Nations system put together their budgets What is the role of complex principals most notably member states and the complex agents in the bureaucracies of international organizations in budgeting processes And what does a focus on budgeting tell us about the changing nature of the system of international organizations This book provides answers to these questions through a detailed examination of budgeting in the UN system The analysis draws on both quantitative and qualitative observations for a total of 22 UN system organizations and detailed case studies for the United Nations ILO UNESCO and WHO The findings demonstrate the importance of three key organizational outcomes proceduralization routinization and budgetary segmentation as international organizations grapple with managing discord over priorities as a result of complex principal agent constellations Contrary to a common view of international bureaucracies as pathological organizations core budget routines are mostly successfully maintained However principal constellations become more complex notably through the rise of voluntary contributions and non state donors budgetary segmentation advances in some cases even leading to the setting up of new international organizations and budgeting and resource mobilization become ever more intertwined As a consequence the capacity of international bureaucracies to fulfil their budgeting responsibilities is stretched to the limits and beyond Transformations in Governance is a major academic book series from Oxford University Press It is designed to accommodate the impressive growth of research in comparative politics international relations public policy federalism and environmental and urban studies concerned with the dispersion of authority from central states to supranational institutions subnational governments and public private networks It brings together work that advances our understanding of the organization causes and consequences of multilevel and complex governance The series is selective containing annually a small number of books of exceptionally high quality by leading and emerging scholars The series is edited by Liesbet Hooghe and Gary Marks of the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill and Walter Mattli of the University of Oxford

An Ethical Evaluation of Lethal Functions in Autoregulative Weapons Systems Nicole Kunkel, 2024-12-30 This book connects two of the most pressing ethical topics of our time questions of peace and technology materialized in so called autonomous weapons systems which can operate without human control and intervention in real time The author however criticizes the term autonomy as too anthropomorphic and therefore misleading She consequently proposes using the term autoregulation in its place Taking a contingent pacifist stance this book addresses the question of whether such technological means help or hinder peace processes The argument is tripartite First it is demonstrated that the risk of harm to nonparticipants is very likely to increase Second and with respect to responsibility it is indicated that a human machine system can only be operated responsibly if a human is in control Finally this idea is transferred into theological thought through reference to Bonhoeffer's idea of incurring guilt in acting responsibly In that context autoregulative technology might pose the possibility of shying away from responsibility and therefore becoming guilty This book is among the first ethical considerations of lethal autoregulative weaponry from a contingent pacifist stance and brings together peace ethical thinking and theories from various backgrounds
