Electricity Access, Decarbonization, and Integration of Renewables Sebastian Groh, Lukas Barner, Georg Heinemann, Christian von Hirschhausen, 2022-11-02 This Open Access Book covers different aspects of the low carbon energy transformation in a unique manner with a particular focus on two regions South Asia and Sub Saharan Africa The first part of the book provides useful insights on changes and reforms in the energy sector of Bangladesh while the second part illustrates the low carbon energy transformation in South Asia and the third part covers lessons from Sub Saharan Africa In all of these regions the energy sector is undergoing major changes driven by the four D s Decarbonization decentralization digitization and democratization Major overhauls are taking place at all levels The country level where energy mixes are rapidly changing the corporate level where large state owned and private companies are challenged and new actors are emerging and the local level where technical and regulatory change has made citizen engagement and community power an option to replace or at least complement centralized supply structures No-Nonsense Guide to International Development Maggie Black, 2007

The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Urban and Regional Futures Robert C. Brears, 2023-01-13 While urban settlements are the drivers of the global economy and centres of learning culture and innovation and nations rely on competitive dynamic regions for their economic social and environmental objectives urban centres and regions face a myriad of challenges that impact the ways in which people live and work create wealth and interact and connect with places Rapid urbanisation is resulting in urban sprawl rising emissions urban poverty and high unemployment rates housing affordability issues lack of urban investment low urban financial and governance capacities rising inequality and urban crimes environmental degradation increasing vulnerability to natural disasters and so forth At the regional level low employment low wage growth scarce financial resources climate change waste and pollution and rising urban peri urban competition etc are impacting the ability of regions to meet socio economic development goals while protecting biodiversity The response to these challenges has typically been the application of inadequate or piecemeal solutions often as a result of fragmented decision making and competing priorities with numerous economic environmental and social consequences In response there is a growing movement towards viewing cities and regions as complex and sociotechnical in nature with people and communities interacting with one another and with objects such as roads buildings transport links etc within a range of urban and regional settings or contexts This comprehensive MRW will provide readers with expert interdisciplinary knowledge on how urban centres and regions in locations of varying climates lifestyles income levels and stages development are creating synergies and reducing trade offs in the development of resilient resource efficient environmentally friendly liveable socially equitable integrated and technology enabled centres and regions
