Bridge Over Blood River Kajsa Norman, 2017-01-15 Nelson Mandela is dead and his dream of a rainbow nation in South Africa is fading Twenty years after the fall of apartheid the white Afrikaner minority fears cultural extinction How far are they prepared to go to survive as a people Kajsa Norman s book traces the war for control of South Africa its people and its history over a series of December 16ths from the Battle of Blood River in 1838 to its commemoration in 2011 Weaving between the past and the present the book highlights how years of fear nationalism and social engineering have left the modern Afrikaner struggling for identity and relevance Norman spends time with residents of the breakaway republic of Orania where a thousand Afrikaners are working to construct a white African utopia Citing their desire to preserve their language and traditions they have sequestered themselves in an isolated part of the arid Karoo region Here they can still dictate the rules and create a homeland with its own flag currency and ideology For a Europe that faces growing nationalism their story is more relevant than ever How do people react when they believe their cultural identity is under threat Bridge Over Blood River s haunting and subversive evocation of South Africa s racial politics provides some unsettling answers

Local Officials and the Struggle to Transform Cities Claire Bénit-Gbaffou , 2024-02-27 Why are even progressive local authorities with the will to improve seldom able to change cities Why does it seem almost impossible to redress spatial inequalities deliver and maintain basic services elevate impoverished areas and protect the marginalised communities Why do municipalities in the Global South refuse to work with prevailing social informalities and resort instead to interventions that are known to displace and aggravate the very issues they aim to address Local Officials and the Struggle to Transform Cities analyses these challenges in South African cities where the brief post apartheid moment opened a window for progressive city government and made research into state practices both possible and necessary In debate with other progressive moments in large cities in Brazil the USA and India the book interrogates City officials practices It considers the instruments they invent and negotiate to implement urban policies the agency they develop and the constraints they navigate in governing unequal cities This focus on actual officials practices is captured through first hand experience state ethnographies and engaged research These reveal day to day practice that question generalised explanations of state failure in complex urban societies as essential malevolence contextual weakness corruption and inefficiency It is hoped that opening the black box of the workings of state opens paths for the construction of progressive policies in contemporary cities Public Administration Training in Africa Peter Fuseini Haruna, Shikha

Vyas-Doorgapersad, 2014-12-19 There is a growing global interest in Africa and how to improve the quality of life of its people and for good reason The world can no longer afford to ignore the democratic changes that have occurred across the continent over the past two decades changes with tremendous implications for professional education and training for the tasks of nation Risk and Opportunity Jan H. Hofmeyr, 2008 Governance and the economy The labour market Education and skills development Poverty and inequality

Apartheid's Leviathan Faeza Ballim, 2023-04-25 A fascinating study that shows how the intersection of technology and politics has shaped South African history since the 1960s This book details the development of an interconnected technological system of a coal mine and of the Matimba and Medupi power stations in the Waterberg a rural region of South Africa near the country's border with Botswana South Africa's state steel manufacturing corporation Iscor which has since been privatized developed a coal mine in the region in the 1970s This set the stage for the national electricity provider Eskom to build coal fueled power stations in the Waterberg Faeza Ballim follows the development of these technological systems from the late 1960s a period of heightened repression as the apartheid government attempted to realize its vision of racial segregation to the deeply fraught construction of the Medupi power station in postapartheid South Africa The Medupi power station was planned toward the end of the first decade of the twenty first century as a measure to alleviate the country's electricity shortage but the continued delay of its completion and the escalation of its costs meant that it failed to realize those ambitions while public frustration and electricity outages grew By tracing this story this book highlights the importance of technology to our understanding of South African history This characterization challenges the idea that the technological state corporations were proxies for the apartheid government and highlights that their activities in the Waterberg did not necessarily accord with the government's strategic purposes While a part of the broader national modernization project under apartheid they also set the stage for worker solidarity and trade union organization in the Waterberg and elsewhere in the country This book also argues that the state corporations their technology and their engineers enjoyed ambivalent relationships with the governments of their time relationships that can be characterized as both autonomous and immersive In the era of democracy while Eskom has been caught up in government corruption a major scourge to the fortunes of South Africa it has also retained a degree of organizational autonomy and offered a degree of resistance to those who sought to further corruption The examination of the workings of these technological systems and the state corporations responsible for them complicates conventional understandings of the transition from the authoritarian rule of apartheid to democratic South Africa which coincided with the transition from state led development to neoliberalism This book is an indispensable case study on the workings of industrial and political power in Africa and beyond

Cause Lawyering and the State in a Global Era Austin Sarat, Stuart Scheingold, 2001-05-03 This volume brings together contextually sensitive cross cultural and comparative research that analyzes the ways in which cause lawyering is influencing and being influenced by the disaggregation of state power associated with democratization and globalization

Panic City Martin J. Murray, 2020-03-10 Despite the end of white minority rule and the transition to parliamentary democracy Johannesburg remains haunted by its tortured history of racial segregation and burdened by enduring inequalities in income opportunities for stable work and access to decent housing Under these circumstances Johannesburg has become one of the most dangerous cities in the world where the yawning gap between the haves and have nots has fueled a turn toward redistribution through crime While wealthy residents have retreated into heavily fortified gated communities and upscale security estates the less affluent have sought refuge in retrofitting their private homes into safe houses closing off public streets and hiring the services of private security companies to protect their suburban neighborhoods Panic City is an exploration of urban fear and its impact on the city's evolving siege architecture the transformation of policing and obsession with security that has fueled unprecedented private consumption of protection services Martin Murray analyzes the symbiotic relationship between public law enforcement agencies private security companies and neighborhood associations wherein buyers and sellers of security have reinvented ways of maintaining outdated segregation practices that define the urban poor as suspects

Remembering Transitions Ksenia Robbe, 2023-10-04 This volume offers critical perspectives on memories of political and socioeconomic transitions that took place between the 1970s and 1990s across the globe and that inaugurated the end of the Cold War The essays respond to a wealth of recent works of literature film theatre and other media in different languages that rethink the transformations of those decades in light of present day crises The authors scrutinize the enduring silences produced by established frameworks of memory and time and explore the mnemonic practices that challenge these frameworks by positing radical ambivalence or by articulating new perspectives and subjectivities As a whole the volume contributes to current debates and theory making in critical memory studies by reflecting on how the changing recollection of transitions constitutes a response to the crisis of memory and time regimes and how remembering these times as crises renders visible continuities between this past and the present It is a valuable resource for academics students practitioners and general readers interested in exploring the dynamics of memory in post authoritarian societies Can rights cure? The impact of human rights litigation on South Africa's health system Marius Pieterse,2014-08-01 Can rights cure At a time when South Africa's ailing and dysfunctional health system is on the verge of radical transformation through the mooted introduction of a National Health Insurance scheme and when there are increasing political tensions between government and the courts this book reflects upon the South African experience of judicially enforcing health related constitutional rights It attempts to understand the ways in which rights based litigation has impacted on the operation and transformation of different features of the health system including the formulation and implementation of health laws and policies processes of health resource allocation and rationing the regulation of health care delivery in the private sector and the promotion and protection of public health Democracy Disconnected Fiona Anciano,Laurence Piper,2018-10-03 Why is dissatisfaction with local democracy endemic despite the spread of new participatory institutions This book argues that a key reason is the limited power of elected local officials especially to produce the City City Hall lacks control over key aspects of city decision making especially under conditions of economic globalisation and rapid urbanisation in the urban South Demonstrated through case studies of daily politics in Hout Bay Democracy Disconnected shows how Cape Town residents engage local rule In the absence of democratic control urban rule in the Global South becomes a complex and contingent framework of multiple and multilevel forms of urban governance FUG that involve City Hall but are not directed by it Bureaucratic governance coexists alongside market developmental and informal forms of governance This disconnect of democracy from urban governance segregates people spatially socially but also politically Thus while the residents of Hout Bay may live next to each other they do not live with each other This book will be a valuable resource for students on programmes such as urban studies political science sociology development studies and political geography Sustainable Waste Management Challenges in Developing Countries Pariatamby, Agamuthu,Shahul Hamid, Fauziah,Bhatti, Mehran Sanam,2019-10-18 As global waste generation increases at a rapid rate there is a dire need for waste management practices such as collection disposal and recycling to protect from environmental pollution However developing countries generate two to three times more waste resort to open dumps more often than developed countries and are slower to integrate waste management standards There is a need for studies that examine the waste generation and practices of countries that share similar economic backgrounds as they strive to implement successful waste management techniques Sustainable Waste Management Challenges in Developing Countries is an essential reference source that discusses the challenges and strategies of waste management practices and the unique waste issues faced by developing countries that prevent them from achieving the goal of integrated waste management While highlighting topics including e waste transboundary movement and consumption patterns this book is ideally designed for policymakers legislators waste company managers environmentalists students academicians and municipal planners seeking current research on the global waste management problem      Debates of the National Council of Provinces (Hansard) South Africa Parliament (1994- ). National Council of Provinces,1998      On the Trail of Capital Flight from Africa Léonce Ndikumana,James K. Boyce,2021-12-23 On the Trail of Capital Flight from Africa investigates the dynamics of capital flight from Angola C te d Ivoire and South Africa countries that have witnessed large scale illicit financial outflows in recent decades Quantitative qualitative and institutional analysis for each country is used to examine the modus operandi of capital flight that is the who how and where dimensions of the phenomenon Who refers to major domestic and foreign players how refers to mechanisms of capital acquisition transfer and concealment and where refers to the destinations of capital flight and the transactions involved The evidence reveals a complex network of actors and enablers involved in orchestrating and facilitating capital flight and the accumulation of private wealth in offshore secrecy jurisdictions This underscores the reality that capital flight is a global phenomenon and that measures to curtail it are a shared responsibility for Africa and the global community Addressing the problem of capital flight and related issues such as trade misinvoicing money laundering tax evasion and theft of public assets by political and economic elites will require national and global efforts with a high level of coordination      South African Education Policy Review, 1993-2000 Linda Chisholm,Shireen Motala,Salim Vally,2003 The South African Education Policy Review is an invaluable historical archive It is a source book on policies conflicts developments and perspectives on education policy in the period 1993 to 2000 Drawing from a selection of articles from the successful Quarterly Reviews of Education and Training produced by the Education Policy Unit of the University of Witwatersrand this book provides readers with detailed accounts of educational changes in South Africa over the past decade It reflects upon significant events trends and debates and provides insightful analysis of this extremely momentous period of South Africa s history      Access ,1999      Annual Report University of the Witwatersrand.
