history of gardening High Country Summers Melanie Shellenbarger, 2012-11-01 High Country Summers considers the emergence of the summer home in Colorado's Rocky Mountains as both an architectural and a cultural phenomenon. It offers a welcome new perspective on an often overlooked dwelling and lifestyle. Writing with affection and insight, Melanie Shellenbarger shows that Colorado's early summer homes were not only enjoyed by the privileged and wealthy but crossed boundaries of class, race, and gender. They offered their inhabitants recreational and leisure experiences as well as opportunities for individual reinvention and they helped shape both the cultural landscapes of the American West and our ideas about it. Shellenbarger focuses on four areas along the Front Range: Rocky Mountain National Park and its easterly gateway town, Estes Park; recreation residences in lands managed by the US Forest Service; Lincoln Hills, one of only a few African American summer home resorts in the United States; and the foothills west of Denver that drew Front Range urbanites including Denver's social elite. From cottages to manor houses, the summer dwellings she examines were home to governors and government clerks, extended families and single women, business magnates and Methodist ministers, African American building contractors and innkeepers, shop owners and tradespeople. By returning annually, Shellenbarger shows they created communities characterized by distinctive forms of kinship. High Country Summers goes beyond history and architecture to examine the importance of these early summer homes as meaningful sanctuaries in the lives of their owners and residents. These homes, which embody both the dwelling, the house itself, and dwelling, the act of summering there, resonate across time and place, harkening back to ancient villas and forward to the present day.

The Unplugged Family Activity Book Rachel Jepson Wolf, 2020-06-23 Get ready for kid-approved ideas that celebrate the great outdoors year-round. Whether you're building forts or making fresh cider, there's something for every kid and every season. Each season is full of excitement waiting to be found, and Rachel highlights the best of each one with sections for recipes, nature exploration, and play and natural history. In spring, make candied violets, spruce tip ice cream, or paper from wildflower seeds. Craft a kite, weave flower crowns, and make a DIY fairy garden. When summer comes, whip up herb-infused balms, rosewater, and zucchini boats. Host a backyard camp out, build a nature exploration pack, cast shadow drawings, sail a leaf boat, and master giant bubbles. As the days cool for autumn, brew mulled cider, make spiced honey, and discover the deliciousness of homemade apple sauce. Plant bulbs for next year's flowers, create an autumn rainbow, or craft a felted acorn necklace. Cozy up in winter with homemade maple candy, an herbal tea blend, and learn how to set out pine cone bird feeders. Build a snow fort or try some winter stargazing followed by making paper stars. Or for those in warmer climates, make an ice lantern. Unique celebrations throughout give the entire family a reason to gather from winter bonfires and Solstice celebrations to maple tappings and beeswax candle dippings.
