ABSTRACT

The tendency of writing article and paper for both printed and online journals and books increases rapidly. The present paper discusses about the techniques of writing good research article. The author has traced the procedures and rule of making abstract of an article. The steps needed to make a good article have been analyzed. Research methodology based on analysis of review of literature and secondary sources have been adopted. The signification of the use of keywords in an abstract is traded under the study. The paper finds out that there are various methods of citing sources and each method has its own procedures for incorporating data in the references. The paper concludes that every good article must be free from plagiarism and if any portion of an intellectual thought is copied then that must be mentioned by sources of references.

INTRODUCTION

The Information and Communication Technology with its day by day changing mode of production of documents have ushered in a new era in the educational system. This leads to the development of research in the country and consequently, the volume of literature also increases enormously. The tendency of writing article and paper for both printed and online journals and books increases rapidly. It has become a more common scenario in the field of Education. There is a multitude of different types of articles, including news stories, features, editorial, profiles, instructional (how-to) articles, and so on. While each has specific qualities that are unique to its type, all articles share some common characteristics. From forming and researching the author's idea of writing and editing his/her work, writing articles can give him a chance to share compelling and important information with readers. So the research scholars and academicians should think about the type of article that will best suit the points that they want to convey.

The scholar must do an in-depth, balanced review of the primary research literature relevant to the study chosen prior to designing and carrying out the experiments. This review helps the scholars to learn what is known about the topic that is being investigated and may avoid unnecessarily repeating work done by others. The primary and secondary sources are the heart of any research article. The scholars and academicians very much depend on journals, books (monographs, classic), research report, govt. publication, abstracts, and indexes and so on before writing any research article for a journal. Experience shows that many scholars copy big volume of a particular content at the time of writing a research paper. They are not aware of the plagiarism. Even they use quotations and thought content but they fail to use footnotes and endnotes, may be due to the lack of in-depth knowledge of using them. The author must have a strategy and plan before writing research article on a particular topic; what is the purpose, whether the selected journal has an impact factor

Academic Writing for Geographers James A. Tyner, 2023-08-21 There are many how to books on writing for academics none of these however relate specifically to the discipline of geography In this book the author identifies the principle modes of academic writing that graduate students and early career faculty will encounter specifically focusing on those forms expected of geographers that is those modes that are reviewed by academic peers This book is readily accessible to senior undergraduate and graduate students and early career faculty who may feel intimidated by the process of writing. This volume is not strictly a how to or step by step manual for writing an article or book rather through the use of real concrete examples from published and unpublished works the author demystifies the process of different types of scholarly pieces geographers have to write with the specific needs and challenges of the discipline in mind. Although chapters are thematic based e.g. stand alone chapters on book reviews, articles and books, the manuscript is structured around the concept of story telling for it is the author's contention that all writing whether a scientific study or more humanist essay is a form of story telling.

Murray, How to Write a Thesis 5e Rowena Murray, 2025-01-27. I have been drawing upon Rowena's work and this book specifically for many years now both in my own thesis writing as well as with the students I now support. This is a fantastic and most welcome resource as the new chapters on AI and neurodiversity as well as further developments and resources on other sections bring it right up to date. Not only is it a very informative and useful resource it also provides lots of excellent tasks and tools to employ that are a significant benefit to the writing processes at this level.

Joseph Allison, Lecturer in Clinical Education and Visiting Specialist, Plymouth Peninsula Medical School, UK. A must read for students and supervisors alike. This book has become a brilliant companion to navigating the complexities of academic writing. Writing my own thesis often felt like climbing a mountain but Rowena's book became my map. Packed with practical advice, support and confidence building strategies it helped me reach the summit.

Michelle Smith, Lecturer in Sport and Exercise Psychology, University of Stirling, UK. The first edition of How to Write a Thesis was essential in my own PhD journey providing a comprehensive oversight of thesis requirements that demystified the complex process of academic writing. Twenty years later the latest iteration of the book remains vital reading. A must buy book for PhD students.

Martin A Sharp, Director of Postgraduate Research, Edinburgh Napier University, UK. This fully updated edition of the classic guide to thesis writing will help you to write your thesis and make the most of the experience. It will also be useful for supervisors who want to help students develop their writing skills and strategies. This book breaks the writing of a thesis down into manageable tasks offering routines for productive writing and drawing on research in different fields to help you discover the strategies that work best for you. Arguing that social writing activities such as writing retreats are key to getting started and staying motivated, this book will equip you to write regularly, maintain your confidence as you write and revise, respond to feedback and create a community of writers as you go.

New to this edition:

- 1 Brand new content on neurodiversity and wellbeing
- 2 How to write for different audiences and purposes
- 3 How to write about research impact
- 4 How to tackle the last phase of your thesis

Rowena Murray is former Professor in Education at the University of the West of Scotland and Honorary Visiting Scholar at Liverpool University Management School.
