(includes subsequent revisions)

1. There is no one "correct" way to write a report. It needs to be unique to the writer and the patient. Styles often change with each report written. However, there are some basic guidelines that will help to write reports (regardless of style issues) clearly and meaningfully.
2. Purposes for the report can vary, they include:
  - Answer specific questions
  - Treatment planning
  - Formulate/conceptualize the case
  - Monitor progress
  - Provide diagnostic input
  - Assess therapy outcome
  - Facilitate prognostications
3. Tailor the report to the reader with respect to his training, his familiarity with terms, uses for the report, and what questions he is asking. Address the referral question. If the question is inappropriate or can not be answered with psychological assessment, you may need to consult with the referral source and modify the question. Don't just copy the question from the referral sheet. Use this section of the report to state the "Purpose of the evaluation." Word the referral question to cue the reader as to what confirming/refuting data to focus on while reading the report. Tell him what case you are building. (e.g., let him know to cue in on the Avoidant Personality issues.) You don't want him to get to the end of your report, then have to read it again to see if your conclusions were supported. Let him be forming this judgement while he reads.

The referral question can help the reader get a better understanding of what psychological assessment can potentially provide. Address unwritten needs of
