Longing for Belonging among the Marginalized in Urban Australia Ritsuko Kurita, 2024-09-23 Longing for Belonging among the Marginalized in Urban Australia examines how Indigenous people African refugees and impoverished Whites in urban Australia who are deemed undesirable citizens under neoliberal governance experience citizenship in their everyday lives Drawing on ethnography conducted in Adelaide and Sydney from 2014 to 2020 along with digital ethnography it elucidates a new sense of belonging being developed across these groups that is mediated by their shared experiences of displacement and predicaments While individuals of these groups are marginalized due to the reinforcement of race and homogenization of welfare beneficiaries as morally deficient and are ashamed to be aware of their norm violations a cross group sense of belonging has emerged that transverses racial and ethnic differences It is based on mutual care compassion and empathy or a community mediated by the ethics of care fostering a sense of belonging among members who according to other paradigms of relatedness might be seen as separate or unequal Ritsuko Kurita maintains that this new sense of belonging rooted in caring for others can contribute to the development of horizontal citizenship by temporarily bridging differences in race ethnicity class and gender which can challenge neoliberal citizenship that values economic rationality self autonomy and individualism

Poor-bashing Jean Swanson, 2001 The special language of poor bashing disguises the real causes of poverty hurts and excludes people who are poor cheapens the labour of people who have jobs and takes the pressure off the rich Swanson a twenty five year veteran of anti poverty work exposes the ideology of poor bashing in a clear forceful style She examines how media poornography operates when reporters cover poverty stories She also reveals how government and corporate clients use poor bashing focus groups To make the book even more useful Swanson includes key chapters on the history of poor bashing

Adam Smith's Islands John C. Weaver, 2025-04-01 Many developed countries restructured relations between state and economy from the late 1970s into the 1990s Among them New Zealand went far fast and left a clear trail making it possible to study economic restructuring as it occurred with all the debates uncertainty surprises mistakes and accomplishments this entailed Adam Smith's Islands reveals the inside life of a government determined to revolutionize its nation's politics and economy While the 1980s economic restructuring of members of the Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development and former Warsaw Pact countries can seem like a foregone conclusion from the vantage point of the twenty first century John Weaver examines how local and global institutions had to come together to implement social adjustments in New Zealand Mounting evidence that the state had not functioned as an effective manager split the business community and primary producers between defenders of subsidization and free market insurgents Reforms undertaken by the governing Labour Party included abandoning currency controls privatizing state run businesses ending a multitude of open and disguised subsidies tightening fiscal responsibility and reforming taxation Adam Smith's Islands focuses on the verifiable direct primary sources from dozens of state collections and deposits of personal papers The archival cornucopia informing this history supports a narrative that has little in common with intellectual histories of neoliberalism To understand how the relationship between the economy and the state changed we need to grasp how and why core institutions practices and cultural beliefs shed some of their once potent legitimacy Through the lens of New Zealand Adam Smith's Islands examines larger questions about policy dilemmas the global flow of capital and the sustainability of social adjustments in economic restructuring In so doing it casts new light on the formation and history of what is casually labelled today as the neoliberal state
