Identity And Social Interaction In A Multi Ethnic Classroom:

Identity and Social Interaction in a Multi-Ethnic Classroom Ruth Barley, 2014-12-05 Drawing on research findings from an ethnography conducted with young children that explored patterns of interaction and notions of difference and identity this study uncovers how four and five year olds conceptualise and operationalise identity in a multi ethnic Early Years classroom in the North of England The study provides in depth insight into the experiences of a diverse group of children from North and Sub Saharan African countries who have come together in a single school setting It highlights how these children are influenced by social structures such as those pertaining to racism gender inequality Islamophobia the war on terror and events in the Arab Spring The research shows that children s everyday social interactions are enabled and constrained by these wider structural discourses as they re negotiate their unfolding identities over time against this complex backdrop Dynamic local and global politics the arrival of new classmates changes in family structures and Koranic school attendance all influence children s everyday sense of self and are reflected in the development of peer relationships at school Developing a theoretical framework that understands identity as performative situated and dialectical this study discusses the dual roles of structural discourses and social agency in the context of identity re negotiation Identity is framed within a strong structuration framework that seeks to understand ontology in situ as the study uncovers how young children understand notions of self and others and how wider social discourses of discrimination and hierarchies of difference play a part in how young children understand ethnic religious and gender difference The study unearths how young children explore their own and their peers identities amongst themselves and raises questions for how policy and practice can best support them in this aspect of their social development

Social Interactions in Multicultural Settings, 2019-02-11 Multicultural issues are part of the agenda for researchers academics and politicians The new technologies have brought multiculturalism into our professional and personal lives opening new possibilities for social interactions among people from different countries cultures ages and gender Being able to deal with diversity including other cultures is a must in the 21st century This book is an opportunity to read narratives about social interactions in multicultural settings and to discuss the role they play in the construction of school and social achievement It is not only a book on multiculturalism It is also a multicultural book including an introduction and 13 chapters from authors representing 11 countries and many more cultures It is a journey that brings you through different settings situations and scenarios describing them vividly so that the reader can have an authentic taste of them This is a book that researchers academics teachers policy makers and politicians should read It illuminates many of the problems related to multiculturalism But it also reports on educational experiences and forms of interacting that help solving these problems It also illustrates the barriers that still exist and that keep many persons apart from equity Moreover due to its narrative mood the descriptions of what happens in different educational systems and episodes that could happen to us all including our kids this is a book for parents youngsters and all the ones

interested in knowing other cultures After all education is an issue that is related to each human being We are all cultural individuals who need to interact with each other Thus this is a book to learn how social interactions in such a demanding multicultural world can help us live in peace and understand each other Cooperation in the Multi-Ethnic Classroom (1994) Helen Cowie, Peter Smith, Michael Boulton, Rema Laver, 2018-02-06 First published in 1994 this book describes how cooperative group work can enhance relationships in the classroom reduce prejudice and alleviate problems of victimisation and peer rejection It combines quantitative experimental analysis with detailed case studies considers the impact of the family on pupil behaviour and concludes with practical recommendations to foster social acceptance in the classroom There is a strong emphasis on helping teachers to develop group work in their classrooms as an effective means of averting trouble and inducing a genuinely better attitude to collaboration with their fellow pupils The difficulties in implementation which can arise if teachers are not motivated or if pupils are disruptive are honestly confronted The book will also help educational and developmental psychologists involved in resolving behavioural difficulties resulting from social tensions in multi ethnic classrooms Cultural Diversity and Inclusion in Early Years Education Penny Borkett, 2018-02-21 Cultural Diversity and Inclusion in Early Years Education reveals how cultural diversity can be celebrated in every early years setting Acknowledging the impact of culture on a child s development and identity the book demonstrates the need for practitioners to appreciate cultural difference value diversity and ensure inclusive practices Alongside comprehensive discussion of current and historical policy relating to multiculturalism and relevant sociocultural theory the book provides practical guidance and resources to support practitioners in responding to the challenges of working with families and children from diverse cultural backgrounds Chapters focus on topics such as policy and the role of the practitioner sociocultural theories relating to child development building working relationships with families the impact of culture on a child s identity enabling environments and inclusive strategies Including case studies reflective questions and suggestions for further reading and research this essential book will help early years practitioners and students to embrace the varied cultural heritages of the children in their care Pedagogies of Culture Dilyara Suleymanova, 2020-02-14 Through an ethnographic study of schooling in the Republic of Tatarstan this book explores how competing notions of nationhood and belonging are constructed articulated and negotiated within educational spaces Amidst major political and ideological moves toward centralization in Russia under the Putin presidency this small provincial town in Tatarstan provides a unique case of local attempts to promote and preserve minority languages and cultures through education and schooling Ultimately the study reveals that while schooling can be an effective instrument of the state to transform individuals as well as society as a whole school also encompasses various spaces where the agency of local actors unfolds and official messages are contested Looking at what happens inside schools and beyond in classrooms hallways and playgrounds to private households or local Islamic schools Dilyara Suleymanova here offers a detailed ethnographic account of the way centrally devised educational policies are being received negotiated and contested on the ground

Reimagining Singapore Chee-Hoo Lum, Juliette Yu-Ming Lizeray, Chor Leng Twardzik Ching, 2023-08-01 This book approaches the subject of contemporary art by exploring the social embeddedness and identities of Singaporean artists Linking artistic processes and production to both personal worlds and wider issues the book examines how artists negotiate their relationships between self and society and between artistic freedom and social responsibility It is based on original research into the discourses and artistic practices of local artists with a special focus on emerging artists and artists whose work and perspectives engage with questions of identity Reimagining contemporary Singapore and their place within it artists are asserting their multiple and heterogeneous self identities and contesting hegemonic norms and notions as they negotiate and adapt to the world around them This book is relevant to students and researchers in the fields of cultural studies media studies art sociology of art arts education and race and ethnicity studies

Ethics, Ethnography and Education Lisa Russell, Ruth Barley, Jonathan Tummons, 2022-06-23 Drawing on a diverse range of studies conducted in England Scotland South America India and the Basque Country this volume argues that administrative and conceptual change is needed to ensure that ethnographers commit fully to conscientiously managing ethics in situ

Informal Nationalism After Communism Abel Polese, Oleksandra Seliverstova, Emilia Pawlusz, Jeremy Morris, 2018-03-20 Since the collapse of the Soviet Union nation building and identity construction in the post socialist region have been the subject of extensive academic research The majority of these studies have taken a top down approach focusing on the variety of ways in which governments have sought to define the nascent nation states and in the process have often oversimplified the complex and overlapping processes at play across the region Drawing on research on the Balkans Central Asia the Caucasus and Eastern Europe this book focuses instead on the role of non traditional non politicised and non elite actors in the construction of identity Across topics as diverse as school textbooks turbofolk and home decoration contributors each an academic with extensive on the ground experience identify and analyse the ways that individuals living across the post socialist region redefine identity on a daily basis often by manipulating and adapting state policy In the process Nation Building in the Post Socialist Region demonstrates the necessity of holistic trans national and inter disciplinary approaches to national identity construction rather than studies limited to a single state territory This is important reading for all scholars and policymakers working on the post socialist region

Performativity in Education Annette Rasmussen, Jan Gustafsson, Bob Jeffrey, 2014-09-01 A powerful policy of performativity now exists in which the pupils teachers and schools are held responsible for performance and at the same time these systems are used for stratification of these groups These performative policies are underpinned by a major global policy to improve economic status and social well being a market based approach that encourages performance based activity Performativity is a technology a culture and mode of regulation that employs judgements and comparisons and displays the performances of individual subjects or organisations to serve as measures of productivity Policy makers believe it raises standards in schools and achievement levels of the mass of the population In setting targets for Regional Local District Education Authorities and schools governments hope to develop a highly skilled workforce that can compete in what it sees as a new global industry the knowledge economy It is argued that a higher skills base and higher levels of excellence in knowledge acquisition and the best use of that knowledge the higher the economic return will be for national States This international collection focuses on the experience of students from the age of four to adulthood across seven different countries Australia Denmark England Germany Ireland Sweden and the USA Young children and students performative identities are constructed as they become enculturated self designations and self attributions brought into play during the course of interaction These are imputed identities which a performative learner takes on as they experience everyday discourse practice and engage in social acclimatisation Researching learners gives an insight into the power and influence of teaching and learning practices discourses have on the practices of the self They cannot avoid the discourses but they seek to find ways to manage them and occasionally resist them in order to maintain social relations and social cohesion within their social context This global collection of articles brings out the ways in which performativity affects students the tensions created and some strategies to manage performative contexts It will therefore be of interest to all sectors of education and to readers from across the globe

Ethics and Integrity in Research with Children and Young People Grace Spencer, 2021-11-04 This international and multi disciplinary edited collection unpacks some of the ethical complexities of conducting research with children and young people The chapters in the volume offer an applied perspective to navigating contemporary and complicated ethical issues that can arise in the field of childhood and youth centred research

Language, Interaction and National Identity Stephen Hester, William Housley, 2017-05-15 Contemporary political and public discourse has come alive with the issues and conflicts surrounding questions of national identity Despite the widespread sociological attention it has drawn as a result most studies of national identity have been conducted at considerable analytical distance from the lived reality of national identity talk This collection brings together the work of contemporary researchers situating the talk and interaction in which national identities are actually expressed and used The book presents detailed investigations of how persons actually use national identity in their talk the interactional uses to which such expressions are put and the interactional consequences of such identity talk The studies are based on transcribed tape recordings of naturally occurring talk across a variety of different countries and settings illuminating not only situated national identity talk as a phenomenon in its own right but also providing empirically grounded research for traditional sociological theorising about issues of integration devolution and exclusion

Dialogic Learning Jos van den Linden, Peter Renshaw, 2006-01-12 Contemporary researchers have analysed dialogue primarily in terms of instruction conversation or inquiry There is an irreducible tension when the terms dialogue and instruction are brought together because the former implies an emergent process of give and take whereas the latter implies a sequence of predetermined moves It is argued that effective teachers have learned how to perform in this contradictory space to both follow and lead to be both responsive and directive to require both independence and receptiveness from learners Instructional dialogue therefore is an artful performance rather than a prescribed technique Dialogues also may be structured as conversations which function to build consensus conformity to everyday ritualistic practices and a sense of community The dark side of the dialogic we and the community formed around our and us is the inevitable boundary that excludes them and theirs When dialogues are structured to build consensus and community critical reflection on the bases of that consensus is required and vigilance to ensure that difference and diversity are not being excluded or assimilated see Renshaw 2002 Again it is argued that there is an irreducible tension here because understanding and appreciating diversity can be achieved only through engagement and living together in communities Teachers who work to create such communities in their classrooms need to balance the need for common practices with the space to be different resistant or challenging again an artful performance that is difficult to articulate in terms of specific teaching techniques

International Handbook of Psychology in Education Karen Littleton, Clare Wood, Judith Kleine Staarman, 2010-05-26 Provides researchers practitioners and advisers working in the fields of psychology and education with an overview of research across a broad spectrum of work within the domain of psychology of education This book focuses on typically developing school age children although issues relating to specific learning difficulties are also addressed

Culture in Education and Education in Culture Pernille Hviid, Mariann Mårtsin, 2019-11-18 In a world where the global engagement and international dialogue intensifies some areas of cultivated knowledge suffer from this dialogue and this has consequences for people and communities We propose education to be such a case The global dialogue in education tends to be restricted to and mediated by standardized measurements Such standards are meant to measure qualities of education and of student behavior and create the sought for condition for normative comparability and competition The obvious drawback is that cultural variability in local living as well as in education is rendered irrelevant Are there alternatives The book insists on maintaining the discussion about education on a global level but rather than moving towards homogenization and standardization of education the attention is drawn towards the potential for learning from creative fits and misfits between concrete local cultures institutional practices and global aims and standards of education This work brings together a group of educational and developmental researchers and scholars grappling to find culturally informed and sensitive modes of educating people and communities Case studies and examples from four geographical contexts are being discussed China Brazil Australia and Europe While being embedded in these local cultures the authors share a conceptual grounding in cultural developmental theorizing and a vision for a culturally informed globalized perspective on education As the theme of the book is learning from each other the volume also includes commentaries from leading scholars in the field of cultural psychology and education

Identity in Education S. Sánchez-Casal, 2009-05-25 This volume explores the impact of social identity on teaching and learning The contributors argue from the perspective of diverse disciplinary and educational contexts that mobilizing identities in the classroom is a necessary part of progressive educators efforts to transform knowledge making and to create a more just and democratic society

Interplays Between Dialogical Learning and Dialogical Self M. Beatrice Ligorio, Margarida César, 2013-04-01 Education is a main issue in all countries Policy makers educators families students and in a more general way societies expect schools to provide a high quality education They also expect students to be able to achieve and to become active and critical citizens As senior researchers in education we address some of the most complex and demanding research questions How does learning affect identity How does participation to educational settings scenarios and situations impact the way we are or became Can changes in how we perceive our Selves be considered as part of the learning process This book attempts to outline some answers to such broad questions using a very robust and updated theoretical frame the dialogical approach In these chapters very well known international authors from different continents and countries analyze school and educational situations through new lens by considering the teaching and learning processes as multi voiced and socially complex and considering identity development as a true leverage for development The focus on the dialogical nature of both learning and identities makes this book interesting not only for educators and educational researchers but also for anyone interested in human sciences policy makers students and their families We also aimed at producing a book that can be useful for different cultures and educational systems Thus in this book there are researches and comments from different cultural perspectives making it appealing for a very large target public

The Effects of Instructional Interaction Guided by a Typology of Ethnic Identity Development Louise M. Tomlinson, 1995

Learning from Difference: Comparative Accounts of Multicultural Education Joseph Lo Bianco, Aydin Bal, 2016-03-30 This book analyses the experiences of multicultural education in nine very different international settings uncovering insights from a vast variety of educational contexts Taking a multi critical approach in reporting and discussing problems faced by increasingly multicultural and multilingual societies the nine case studies reflect radically different assumptions about what counts as difference and what should be the appropriate ways for education systems to respond to differences While each country s approach seems unique analysis of the divergent treatments of internal population diversity elicits a genuinely global instance of the increasingly shared phenomenon of cultural pluralism Discussing various successes and failures of policy enactment theory pedagogy and management of diversity the book isolates both the differences and similarities in the unique geopolitical and socio historical contexts of the countries investigated A key value of the book is that it greatly expands the range of settings experiences epistemologies ontologies and practical experiences that are typically encountered in mainstream discussion of what counts as multicultural education In effect all societies are in some way dealing with difference this volume helps widen the scope of reflection and thus facilitates increased global learning from difference
