The Three Waves of Globalization
 Franca Poppi, 2014-01-16 Globalization i e the spatio temporal processes of change leading to a transformation in the organization of human affairs is said to have started as long ago as the end of the 15th century This first wave of globalization was subsequently followed by two others The third wave of globalization which began after 2000 has made the world noticeably smaller In fact technological innovations have sharply increased the availability of new modes and channels of communication As a result the sharing of knowledge and information all around the world has substantially increased and this has prompted the emergence of new globalizing genres In addition it has led to the implementation of a series of adaptations to the existing genres in an attempt to guarantee their success and survival in an era which celebrates the need for a global reach In order to investigate these winds of change in generic studies the present volume combines a historical perspective with a detailed survey of different contemporary discourses and genres situated in an array of contexts of interaction Accordingly the empirically informed analyses of discourses and genres do not only focus on the textual intertextual and interdiscursive features but also on the institutional organizational professional and socio cultural settings i e all those aspects which show how genres reflect changing disciplinary and professional cultures As a consequence and in line with the multi faceted nature of genre different reading paths can be followed in the present volume On the one hand it is possible to make a distinction between professional institutional and academic contexts On the other hand the concept of change will also be investigated by focusing on oral written and web mediated genres Throughout the volume the different reading paths aim at highlighting the influence of the three waves of globalization on genre evolution thus contributing to providing evidence in favour of the homogenization or fragmentation hypotheses which claim new global genres are outnumbering or are outnumbered by the proliferation of a myriad of new customized genres

Specialised Dictionaries for Learners
 Pedro A. Fuertes-Olivera, 2010-03-26 The need for constructing a lexicographical theory with a particular focus on specialised dictionaries for learners is well documented in recent publications This will imply paying attention to at least four basic lexicographic categories learners the learner s situation the learner s needs dictionary assistance In one or other way these categories are analysed in this book whose eleven chapters are grouped into three parts Part 1 reflects on some of the main ideas defended by the function theory of lexicography perhaps the theoretical framework that has paid more attention to specialised lexicography Part 2 presents some proposals that have already being explored in the field of general learner s dictionary and must be incorporated into specialised metalexicography cultural aspects figurative meaning the inclusion of grammatical information the use of corpora Part 3 introduces the state of play regarding specialised dictionaries in China and offers some ideas for coping with the proliferation of terminological glossaries in Internet. The book also describes Enrique Alcaraz's academic achievements together with some personal anecdotes and a personal short tribute to his memory.
