When Race and Policy Collide Donathan L. Brown, Amardo Rodriguez, 2014-02-17 Examining actual policy to identify the facts this book exposes how racially charged political and legal debates over immigration reform in the United States continue to inform our immigration policy Immigration reform policies continue to influence domains like housing ordinances official language laws mass deportation and bilingual education amongst many other topics In this work authors Donathan Brown and Amardo Rodriguez demonstrate how immigration policies belie simplistic conversations pertaining to border control Their focus is on actual policy as opposed to mere headlines and talking points as it is policy and the debates that it produces that inform the headlines and subsequently incite controversy and heated arguments Each chapter of the book addresses both policies and the fallout they produce to clearly articulate how such policies usurp fact with fiction producing residual messages that equate diversity with destroying our social and political order This accessible book provides high school college and graduate level students insight into the laws and lawsuits stemming from current legislation an understanding of the peculiar racial dimensions intertwined in these policies and debates as well as comprehension of immigration reform against the grander backdrop of the growing Latino demographic in the United States The authors argue that the varying degrees of immigration reform passed by state legislatures throughout the country are based on thinking that ignores the sociopolitical and cultural realities of modern day America and continue to rely less on facts and more on fear causing greater deep seated paranoia distrust and resentment within our nation

Classical Myth in Alfred Hitchcock's Wrong Man and Grace Kelly Films Mark William Padilla, 2018-12-12 Mark Padilla's classical reception readings of Alfred Hitchcock features some of the director's most loved and important films and demonstrates how they are informed by the educational and cultural classicism of the director's formative years The six close readings begin with discussions of the production histories so as to theorize and clarify how classicism could and did enter the projects Exploration of the films through a classical lens creates the opportunity to explore new themes and ideological investments The result is a further appreciation of both the engine of the director's storytelling creativity and the expressionism of classicism especially Greek myth and art in British and American modernism The analysis organizes the material into two triptychs one focused on the three films sharing a wrong man pattern wrongly accused man goes on the run to clear himself the other treating the films starring the actress Grace Kelly Chapter One on The 39 Steps 1935 finds the origins of the wrong man plot in early 20th century British classicism and demonstrates that the movie utilizes motifs of Homer's Odyssey Chapter Two on Saboteur 1942 theorizes the impact of the director's memories of the formalism and myths associated with the Parthenon sculptures housed in the British Museum Chapter Three on North by Northwest participates in the myths of the hero Oedipus as associated with early Greek epic Freud Nietzsche and Sophocles Chapter Four on Dial M for Murder 1954 returns to Homer's Odyssey in the interpretive use of the lay of Demodocus a story about the sexual triangle of Hephaestus Aphrodite and Ares

Chapter Five on Rear Window 1954 finds its narrative archetype in The Homeric Hymn to Aphrodite the erotic theme of Sirius the Dog Star also marks the film Chapter Six on To Catch a Thief 1955 offers the opportunity to break from mythic analogues and to consider the film's philosophical resonances Plato and Epicurus in the context of motifs coalesced around the god Dionysus Bacchus
