1992 the Convention on Biological Diversity CBD signed by over 160 countries and hailed as the key symbol of a common vision for saving Earth's biodiversity set forth three primary mandates preserving biodiversity using biodiversity components sustainably and enabling economic benefit sharing The CBD which gave signatory countries the ability to claim sovereignty over nonhuman genetic resources native to each nation defined biodiversity through a politics of nationhood in ways that commodified genetic resources In Biogenetic Paradoxes of the Nation Sakari Tamminen traces the ways in which the CBD's seemingly compatible yet ultimately paradox ridden aims became manifest in efforts to create conserve and capitalize on distinct animal and plant species In using Finland as a case study with which to understand the worldwide efforts to convert species into manifestations of national identity Tamminen shows how the CBD's policies contribute less to biodiversity conservation than to smoothing the way for frictionless operation of biotechnologically assisted circuits of the global bioeconomy Tamminen demonstrates how an intimate look at the high level politics and technical processes of defining national genetic resources powerfully illuminates the limits of anthropocentric biopolitical theory Interaction in Educational Domains Kirsi Tirri, Elina Kuusisto, 2013-11-19 In this volume we take a holistic approach to education viewing human beings as lifelong learners who need interaction in all educational domains cognitive affective psychomotor to actualize their full potential The chapters are based on presentations given at the 2012 conference of the Finnish Educational Research Association FERA whose theme was Interaction in Educational Research Prof David Clarke from the University of Melbourne in Australia and the conference's keynote speaker opens our symposium with a discussion of international comparative research in educational interaction by constructing and concealing differences The chapters that follow arranged in three parts deal with interaction in cognitive affective and psychomotor domains In Part I theoretical and philosophical approaches to interaction are examined through ontological epistemological and semiotic perspectives Part II presents a series of empirical studies on educational interaction Together these show regional differences in cognitive and psychomotor learning outcomes the importance of academic emotions in learning cultural aspects in understanding the visual arts and interactive learning for gifted science students Part III introduces three programs that promote educational interaction one enhances teacher education with interdisciplinary integration another explores the benefits of Finnish Russian cooperation and a third uses musical concerts as an interactive tool for special education All of the chapters contribute to the current research and discussion on learning and interaction In this field inquiries need to be carried out in different learning domains and in various cultural contexts In particular cross cultural comparisons are useful in validating the findings of empirical studies and testing the culture dependent and culture invariant dimensions of educational interaction
