Hornsey 1968 The Art School Revolution:

Hornsey 1968 Lisa Tickner, 2008 In May 1968 students occupied London's Hornsey College of Art in a dispute over student union funds. This relatively minor issue soon expanded into a broad critique of Britain's educational system. The one day sit-in led to six weeks of intense debate over 70 policy papers and a prolonged confrontation with the local authorities. A special commission even conveyed the students' demands to Parliament. Hornsey 1968 draws on previously unpublished archival material to present a full account of this seminal event. A Philosophy of the Art School Michael Newall, 2018-10-31 Winner of the American Society for Aesthetics 2019 Outstanding Monograph Prize. Until now research on art schools has been largely occupied with the facts of particular schools and teachers. This book presents a philosophical account of the underlying practices and ideas that have come to shape contemporary art school teaching in the UK, US and Europe. It analyses two models that hidden beneath the diversity of contemporary artist training have come to dominate art schools. The first of these is essentially an old approach: a training guided by the artistic values of a single artist teacher. The second dates from the 1960s and is based around the group critic in which diverse voices contribute to an artist's development. Understanding the underlying principles and possibilities of these two models which sit together in an uneasy tension gives new insights into the character of contemporary art school teaching, demonstrating how art schools shape art and artists, how they can be a potent engine of creativity in contemporary culture and how they contribute to artistic research. A Philosophy of the Art School draws on first-hand accounts of art school teaching and is deeply informed by disciplines ranging from art history and art theory to the philosophy of art education and creativity. London's New Scene Lisa Tickner, 2020-07-07 A groundbreaking and extensively researched account of the 1960s London art scene. In the 1960s London became a vibrant hub of artistic production. Postwar reconstruction, jet air travel, television, arts programs, new color supplements, a generation of young artists, dealers and curators, the influx of international film companies, the projection of creative Britain as a national brand all nurtured and promoted the emergence of London as a new capital of art. Extensively illustrated and researched, this book offers an unprecedented rich account of the social field that constituted the lively London scene of the 1960s. In clear, fluent prose, Tickner presents an innovative sequence of critical case studies, each of which explores a particular institution or event in the cultural life of London between 1962 and 1968. The result is a kaleidoscopic view of an exuberant decade in the history of British art. The Global Contemporary Art World Jonathan Harris, 2017-10-02 The final installment in the critically acclaimed trilogy on globalization and art explores the growing dominance of Asian centers of art. This book takes readers on a fascinating journey around five Asian centers of contemporary art and its myriad institutions, agents, forms, materials and languages while posing vital questions about the political economy of culture and the power of visual art in a multi-polar world. He analyzes the financial powerhouse of Art Basel, Hong Kong, new media art in South Korea, the place of the Kochi Biennale within contemporary art in India, transnational art and art education in China, and the geo-politics of art.

patronage in Palestine and he develops a highly original synthesis of theoretical perspectives and empirical research Drawing on detailed case studies and personal insights gained from his extensive experience of the contemporary art scene in Asia Professor Harris examines the evolving relationship between the western centers of art practice collection and validation and the emerging peripheries of Asian Tiger societies with burgeoning art centers And he arrives at the somewhat controversial conclusion that dominance of the art world is rapidly slipping away from Europe and North America The Global Contemporary Art World is essential reading for undergraduates and postgraduate students in modern and contemporary art art history art theory and criticism cultural studies the sociology of culture and globalization studies It is also a vital resource for research students academics and professionals in the art world
