The Printing Art Sample Book, 1913 Writing and Publishing Scientific Papers Gábor Lövei, 2021-05-19 Gábor Lövei's scientific communication course for students and scientists explores the intricacies involved in publishing primary scientific papers and has been taught in more than twenty countries. Writing and Publishing Scientific Papers is the distillation of Lövei's lecture notes and experience gathered over two decades; it is the coursebook many have been waiting for. The book's three main sections correspond with the three main stages of a paper's journey from idea to print: planning, writing, and publishing. Within the book's chapters, complex questions such as "How to write the introduction" or "How to submit a manuscript" are broken down into smaller, more manageable problems that are then discussed in a straightforward, conversational manner, providing an easy and enjoyable reading experience. Writing and Publishing Scientific Papers stands out from its field by targeting scientists whose first language is not English. While also touching on matters of style and grammar, the book's main goal is to advise on first principles of communication. This book is an excellent resource for any student or scientist wishing to learn more about the scientific publishing process and scientific communication. It will be especially useful to those coming from outside the English-speaking world and looking for a comprehensive guide for publishing their work in English. How to Research, Write and Publish an Art History Book in American Art Diane Elizabeth Kelleher, 2011-09-27 As the title suggests, this book concerns the art and life of the world's only American Linear Impressionist, Lilian Westcott Hale. Born in Connecticut in 1881, Hale was educated primarily at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, and lived for many years in nearby Dedham, moving to Charlottesville, Virginia, after the death of her beloved educator, art critic, author, and painter husband, Philip Leslie Hale. A woman Hale far outpaced the success of many men, including her husband. During her early decades of activity, Hale garnered innumerable national awards, accolades, and prizes and international acclaim for her oil portraits of children, women in interiors, and charcoal sketches of snowy landscapes, all created in an Impressionist style utilizing only vertical strokes. Hale was the originator and sole practitioner of a technique which paradoxically used line in an Impressionist manner. While her classic art fell out of favor during the Modernist 1940s, it is now once again very much in vogue. Arts Review, 1984 Reading, Writing, and Thinking Paul L. Thomas, Joe Kincheloe, 2006-01-01 In a world gone mad with standardized curricula and the degradation of the profession of teaching, Paul L. Thomas and Joe Kincheloe attempt to bring sanity back to the discussion of the teaching of some of the basic features of the educational process. In Reading, Writing, and Thinking: The Postformal Basics, the authors take on the rational irrationality of current imperial pedagogical practices, providing readers with provocative insights into the bizarre assumptions surrounding the contemporary teaching of reading, writing, and thinking. The authors are obsessed with producing an accessible book for multiple audiences: parents, teachers, scholars of education, that moves beyond critique to a new domain of the social and educational imagination. Readers of Thomas and Kincheloe's book embark on a mind trip beginning with what is and moving to the realm of what could be. In this context, they introduce readers to a critical theory of thinking, postformalism, that moves the social and educational conversation to a new terrain of individual and social consciousness Tired of the same educational policies and solutions in the teaching of reading writing and thinking the authors become socio psychic explorers who move readers past the boundaries of contemporary pedagogical perception
