Speaking the Lower Frequencies Walter R. Jacobs, 2012-02-01 Speaking the Lower Frequencies demonstrates how students can be critical consumers of media while retaining the pleasure they derive from it. In Walter R. Jacobs's classes on media and society, students use the instructor's experiences as a model for investigating their own histories. By creating new social contexts and meanings, the students learn to speak the lower frequencies. Jacobs looks at the students' reception and critique of pop culture texts like the movie I Like It Like That and the television show The X-Files to provide evidence for the effects of alternative pedagogy on critical literacy. He shows that when students are encouraged to be more than just passive receptors of the media, they learn to develop active critical voices that they use both inside and outside the classroom. Jacobs also explains how students can become more aware and active in attempts to create democratic possibilities for themselves and others.

The Gleaners Craig Conrad, 2021-03-18 Paul Rice is still rather concerned with the wolf bipeds that have infiltrated the government, especially the CIA, and are entrenched in just about every state in the country. He is working to eliminate them but is momentarily sidetracked when Henry Running Deer, a young Lakota orphan that has run away from the reservation, asks Paul to find his friend Sara Small Foot who has suddenly disappeared. Paul takes on the case only to find that the bipeds are still very much with him and closer in government than he thought. Along with his usual cast of helpers, he also finds an unlikely ally who is also working against the bipeds called The Gleaners.
