Access to Justice Ellie Palmer, Tom Cornford, Yseult Marique, Audrey Guinchard, 2016-01-28. Building on a series of ESRC funded seminars, this edited collection of expert papers by academics and practitioners is concerned with access to civil and administrative justice in constitutional democracies where for the past decade governments have reassessed their priorities for funding legal services embracing new technologies that reconfigure the delivery and very concept of legal services, cutting legal aid budgets and introducing putative cost cutting measures for the administration of courts, tribunals and established systems for the delivery of legal advice and assistance. Without underplaying the future potential of technological innovation or the need for a fair and rational system for the prioritisation and funding of legal services, the book questions whether the absolutist approach to the dictates of austerity and the promise of new technologies that have driven the Coalition Government's policy can be squared with obligations to protect the fundamental right of access to justice in the unwritten constitution of the United Kingdom.

Risk and Safety Management in the Leisure, Events, Tourism and Sports Industries Mark Piekarz, Ian Jenkins, Peter Mills, 2015-09-02. The management of risk and safety is not simply a matter of trying to remove risks but is necessary and vital to these industries. Sensible risk management is concerned with making the most of the positive opportunities or reducing the negative risks. This book shows how the absence of explicit risk practices is not necessarily an absence of risk management and how many existing operational and strategic practices can be understood as part of a process of risk and safety management. Its main objective is to develop greater clarity in the communication of risks and the development of safety programmes illustrating how organisations can use a single language of risk relevant for all levels of management and areas of operation.

Them and Us Philippe Legrain, 2020-10-15. Winner of the Diversity Inclusion and Equality Award at the Business Book Awards 2021. Underpinned by scholarship, entertaining, Legrain's book fizzles with practical ideas. The Economist: The beauty of diversity is that innovation often comes about by serendipity. As Scott Page observed one day in 1904 at the World Fair in St Louis, the ice cream vendor ran out of cups. Ernest Hami, a Syrian waffle vendor in the booth next door, rolled up some waffles to make cones and the rest is history. Filled with data, anecdotes and optimism, Them and Us is an endorsement of cultural differences at a time of acute national introspection. By every measure, from productivity to new perspectives, immigrants bring something beneficial to society. If patriotism means wanting the best for your country, we should be welcoming immigrants.

with open arms Saving and Investment in the Twenty-First Century Carl Christian von Weizsäcker, Hagen M. Krämer, 2021-06-29 The economy of the 21st century in the OECD countries and in China is characterized by a new phenomenon: the structural surplus of private savings in relation to private investment. This is true even in a situation of prosperity and very low interest rates. On the one hand, this excess saving is due to people's increasing inclination to save in light of rising life expectancy driven by the desire to have sufficient assets in old age. On the other hand, the demand for capital is not increasing to the same extent so that investment is not keeping pace with the rising desire to save. The resulting gap between the private desire for wealth and private investment can only be closed by increasing public debt. This open access book offers a new capital theoretical perspective on the macroeconomic relationship between desired wealth and investment and it presents new empirical data on private wealth and its composition in the OECD plus China area. The authors argue that a free economic and social order can only be stabilized if the wealth aspirations of individuals are met under conditions of price stability. This is not possible without substantial net public debt. A new way of thinking about the economy as a whole is required. By way of an in-depth theoretical and empirical analysis, the book demonstrates this new way of thinking and describes the current challenges facing economic policy. It will appeal to economists and students of economics who are interested in macroeconomic theory and its economic policy implications. An impressive and convincing theoretical dive into the fundamentals behind secular stagnation with very strong implications for actual debt policy. Public debt may be needed to improve welfare. Olivier Blanchard, Senior Fellow at the Peterson Institute for International Economics and Professor of Economics Emeritus at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, MIT, Chief Economist at the International Monetary Fund from 2008 to 2015. Saving and Investment in the Twenty-First Century gives a wholly new perspective on macroeconomics. Weizsäcker and Krämer describe a simple practical solution to the underemployment that has plagued Southern Europe for more than a decade. George Akerlof, Nobel Laureate in Economics 2001, Professor at the McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University and Professor of Economics Emeritus at the University of California Berkeley. This is a profound and original contribution that can help us to understand and act on the great issues of our times. Nicholas Stern, Grantham Research Institute on Climate Change and the Environment at the London School of Economics, Author of the Stern Review, Report on the Economics of Climate Change, Chief Economist at the World Bank from 2000 to 2003.

Reading Vincent Quinn, 2020-06-01 Why do we read and have we always read in the same way? Reading: A cultural practice uses a rich variety of literary and visual sources to explore how reading has changed and continues to change in response to new technologies and shifting social pressures. Drawing on medieval illustrations, classic fiction, the art and literature of the Bloomsbury Group, and contemporary e-culture, the book shows that there is no single unchanging thing called reading; instead, it is something that mutates over time. Throughout history, ways of reading and theories of reading have been shaped by religious and educational institutions. This continues to be true, but current approaches to reading are also conditioned by debates over digital culture and social media use Reading A cultural practice re frames these contemporary preoccupations by offering a long view on how our notions of books and reading alter according to social and historical context Minerals Yearbook Mines Bureau, Geological Survey, Interior Department, 2017-02-15 Area Reports International These annual reviews are designed to provide timely statistical data on mineral commodities in various countries Each report includes sections on government policies and programs environmental issues trade and production data industry structure and ownership commodity sector developments infrastructure and a summary outlook Audience International minerals brokers minerals buyers construction industry chemical industry commodities brokers commodities transportation carriers financial services executives financial brokers commodities exchange members geologists

Intercity Transport and Climate Change Yoshitsugu Hayashi, Shigeru Morichi, Tae Hoon Oum, Werner Rothengatter, 2014-11-25 While intercity passenger transport counts for about 2% of the total passenger transport volume the share of the total passenger kilometers traveled is estimated more than one third In many countries the major part of intercity transport is performed by car and air and as a result the contribution to the carbon footprint is substantially higher than the share of overall passenger transport performance This creates a challenge to develop a sustainable organization of intercity transport which requires a true joint effort of policy makers industry sectors and households This presupposes that all options for reducing the carbon footprint of the transport modes car air and rail are fully exploited through modern propulsion technology use of regenerative energy and efficient organization of transport processes Basic conditions for meeting this requirement are an incentive compatible public framework of regulation taxation charging and education the private willingness to adjust to new behavioral patterns and a consequent push of technological progress towards energy and CO2 savings This book begins with an international comparison of intercity transport and the current state of greenhouse gas emissions GHG of this transport segment A focus is given to comparing the situation in the EU the US and Japan while describing the more recent development of intercity transport in China followed by an analysis of intercity transport policies and their contribution to meet the global climate change issues This book will be of interest to researchers in transportation economics and policy as well as civil engineering and planning
