Performance Assessment Brian McLean Semple, 1992 The second International Assessment of Educational Progress focused on the mathematics and science achievement of 13 year olds Performance assessments were used as part of the overall assessment in four countries England Scotland Soviet Union and Taiwan and five Canadian provinces The performance assessment approach drew heavily on the experience of the United Kingdom in such assessments but added features to meet the needs of an international study The performance tasks required students to apply concepts observe measure manipulate equipment and materials and record and interpret data Approximately 3 000 students participated in the 1991 mathematics and science assessments Scores varied widely from task to task and from country to country Relative performance of countries and provinces generally differed from those identified by written curriculum based tests A major lesson learned from the experimental test administration is that this form of performance assessment can be used reliably in international comparative studies although at an estimated cost three to four times greater than that for an equivalent number of written test questions Sample mathematics and science tasks are included and there is an appendix on problem solving in mathematics that describes outcomes produced by Scottish students

Designing Learning Environments for Developing Understanding of Geometry and Space Richard Lehrer, Daniel Chazan, 2012-11-12 This volume reflects an appreciation of the interactive roles of subject matter teacher student and technologies in designing classrooms that promote understanding of geometry and space Although these elements of geometry education are mutually constituted the book is organized to highlight first the editors vision of a general geometry education second the development of student thinking in everyday and classroom contexts and third the role of technologies Rather than looking to high school geometry as the locus and all too often the apex of geometric reasoning the contributors to this volume suggest that reasoning about space can and should be successfully integrated with other forms of mathematics starting at the elementary level and continuing through high school Reintegrating spatial reasoning into the mathematical mainstream indeed placing it at the core of K 12 mathematics environments that promote learning with understanding will mean increased attention to problems in modeling structure and design and reinvigoration of traditional topics such as measure dimension and form Further the editors position is that the teaching of geometry and spatial visualization in school should not be compressed into a characterization of Greek geometry but should include attention to contributions to the mathematics of space that developed subsequent to those of the Greeks This volume is essential reading for those involved in mathematics education at all levels including university faculty researchers and graduate students Math Instruction for Students with Learning Difficulties Susan Perry Gurganus, 2021-11-29 This richly updated third edition of Math Instruction for Students with Learning Difficulties presents a research based approach to mathematics instruction designed to build confidence and competence in preservice and inservice PreK 12 teachers Referencing benchmarks of both the National
