Understanding Higher Education Chrissie Bowie, Sioux McKenna, 2021-08-23 Drawing on the South African case this book looks at shifts in higher education around the world in the last two decades In South Africa calls for transformation have been heard in the university since the last days of apartheid Similar claims for quality higher education to be made available to all have been made across the African continent In spite of this inequalities remain and many would argue that these have been exacerbated during the Covid pandemic Understanding Higher Education responds to these calls by arguing for a social account of teaching and learning by contesting dominant understandings of students as decontextualised learners premised on the idea that the university is a meritocracy This book tackles the issue of teaching and learning by looking both within and beyond the classroom It looks at how higher education policies emerged from the notion of the knowledge economy in the newly democratic South Africa and how national qualification frameworks and other processes brought the country more closely into conversation with the global order The effects of this on staffing and curriculum structures are considered alongside a proposition for alternative ways of understanding the role of higher education in society

Healthcare in Motion Cecilia Vindrola-Padros, Ginger A. Johnson, Anne E. Pfister, 2018-08-17 How does the need to obtain and deliver health services engender particular mobility forms And how is mobility experienced and imagined when it is required for healthcare access or delivery Guided by these questions Healthcare in Motion explores the dynamic interrelationship between mobility and healthcare drawing on case studies from across the world and shedding light on the day to day practices of patients and professionals

Mosito, 2025-05-26 A historical overview of the evolution of inclusive education alongside the emergence of concepts such as of equity and access highlighting how these ideas have evolved been enacted and practiced in the higher education institutions HEIs of South Africa since 2001

Rethinking International Skilled Migration Micheline van Riemsdijk, Qingfang Wang, 2016-10-04 In today's global knowledge economy competition for the best and brightest workers has intensified Highly skilled workers are an asset to companies knowledge institutions cities and regions as they contribute to knowledge creation innovation and economic growth and development Skilled migrants cross and many times straddle international borders to pursue professional opportunities These spatial relocations provide opportunities and challenges for migrants and the cities and regions they inhabit How have international skilled migratory flows been formed sustained and transformed over multiple spaces and scales How have these processes affected cities and regions And how have multiple stakeholders responded to these processes The contributors to this book bring together perspectives from economic social urban and population geography in order to address these questions from a myriad of angles Empirical case studies from different regions illuminate the multiscaled processes of international skilled migration In particular the contributions rethink skilled migration theories and provide insights into the experiences of highly skilled labor migrants and international students issues related to transnational activities and return migration and policy implications for both immigrant source and destination countries It also charts a future research agenda for international skilled migration research Rethinking International Skilled Migration provides a comparative perspective on the experiences of skilled migrants across the local regional national and or global scale paying particular attention to spatial and place based dimensions of international skilled migration It will be of interest to scholars and professionals in international migration regional and national development policymakers international businesses and NGOs

Handbook of Literacy in Diglossia and in Dialectal Contexts Elinor Saiegh-Haddad, Lior Laks, Catherine McBride, 2022-03-14 This volume is the first published collection of papers on the impact of diglossia and dialectal variations on language and literacy acquisition impairment and education The authors are pioneering in this field and are leading researchers with substantial experience in conducting research in this area A wide range of areas and languages are covered including the US South Africa Israel and various European countries The chapters present novel data and insights regarding the role of dialectal variations on language and literacy from a wide range of countries and perspectives These insights have significant theoretical and practical implications A majority of literacy learners worldwide are taught to read and write in a language variety or a dialect that is not the same as their spoken language Not only is this the global norm but it is probably also the greatest obstacle to literacy learning This volume is the first published collection of papers on the role of dialect in language and literacy acquisition impairment and education in a variety of languages and situations across Europe the Middle East North America Africa and Asia The authors are pioneers in this field Research Universities in Africa Cloete, Nico, Bunting, Ian, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Political Transformations and Teacher Education Programs Miriam Ben-Peretz, Sharon Feiman-Nemser, 2017-11-01 Political transformations have a decisive power to shape education systems in general and teacher education programs in particular How these processes unfold is especially interesting in educational systems which are not generally known to Anglo Saxon educators like Germany Russia or China Several chapters in this volume discuss the impact of statewide political transformation on teacher education programs Political transformation is one of the important features of societies in the second half of the 20th century Political transformations and changing ideologies are part of the history of teaching and teacher education It is important to be aware of this process in order to keep the accumulated experience of the teaching profession alive and contribute to present day education policy and practice Bringing ideological political perspectives to bear on teacher education can deepen our understanding of the relation between society and teacher education Moreover it highlights the pivotal role that teachers play in any society This volume presents different ways of analyzing teacher education programs through the lens of different ideologies and the influence of societal transformations

Participation of Young People in Governance Processes in Africa Kurebwa, Jeffrey, Dodo, Obadiah, 2019-06-28 Active political engagement requires the youth of today to begin their journeys now to be leaders of tomorrow Young individuals are instrumental in providing valuable insight into issues locally as well as on a national and international level Participation of Young People in Governance Processes in Africa examines the role of young peoples involvement in governance processes in Africa and demonstrates how they are engaging in active citizenship There is an intrinsic value in upholding their right to participate in decisions that affect their daily lives and their communities and the content within this publication supports this by focusing on topics such as good citizenship youth empowerment democratic awareness political climate and socio economic development It is designed for researchers academics policymakers government officials and professionals whose interests center on the engagement of youth in active citizenship roles

Multilingual classroom contexts Prof Christa van der Walt, Dr Verbra Pfeiffer, 2021-12-01 By far the majority of South African students get their schooling in a second language which means that our classrooms are multilingual This state of affairs is not exclusive to our country as can be seen in the many academic conferences on multilingual learning and teaching Terms like translanguaging and biliteracy appear in many articles and books that discuss the role language in education What makes the multilingual nature of our South African classrooms challenging is the fact that many learners switch from one language of learning and teaching to another at various points in their school career from home language to English or Afrikaans after the foundation phase from one language of learning and teaching to another when they move to new schools high school or tertiary institutions This book is an attempt to highlight the transitions from home to school from foundation to intermediate phase from primary to high school and from high school to tertiary institutions

Sustainable Transformation in African Higher Education Felix Maringe, Emmanuel Ojo, 2017-04-18 The book is a must read for policy makers academics university administrators and post graduate research students in the broad field of education and in higher education studies in particular The book brings together a wealth of information regarding the imperatives of transformation in Africa s higher education systems Not only do some of the chapters provide critical discussion about the conceptualisation of transformation the majority of the chapters reflect on empirical evidence for transformation in diverse fields of mathematics science gender the training of doctoral students and the governance and management of universities This central theme of sustainable change and reform runs across the chapters of the book For students the book provides exemplars of practical research in higher education For scholars in higher education and policy makers specific issues for reform are identified and discussed Post-Independence Development in Africa David Mhlanga,Emmanuel Ndhlovu,2023-07-11 The book Post Independence Development in Africa Decolonisation and Transformation Prospects revisits the development debates and development realities in Africa This is achieved by offering theoretical comments about post independence development in Africa and by providing historical details pertaining to the development approaches adopted in Africa immediately after independence in the 1960s and mid 70s Sitting at the intersection of two sets of scholarly literature namely literature on development and literature on development discourses and practices in Africa the book comprises a mixture of detailed sector specific accounts of the status of development on the continent The chapters in the book also contribute to clarifying how the two strands of literature intersect using several case studies across Africa
