The Fictions of Translation Judith Woodsworth, 2018-02-15 In The Fictions of Translation emerging and seasoned scholars from a range of cultures bring fresh perspectives to bear on the age old practice of translation The current movement of people knowledge and goods around the world has made intercultural communication both prevalent and indispensable Consequently the translator has become a more prominent figure and translation an increasingly present theme in works of literature Embedding translation in a fictional setting and considering its most extreme forms pseudotranslation or self translation for example are fruitful ways of conceptualizing the act of translating and extending the boundaries of translation studies Taken together the various translational fictions examined in this collection yield new insights into questions of displacement migration and hybridity all characteristic of the modern world The Fictions of Translation will thus be of interest to practising translators students and scholars of translation and literary studies as well as a more general readership

The Naked Gaze Carlos Rojas, 2020-03-17 This is a study of visuality in early modern and modern China Its focus however is not so much on imagery per se but rather on how vision itself has been conceived imagined and deployed in a variety of discursive contexts Of particular interest is how these discourses of vision have been used to articulate issues of gender and desire and specifically processes of gendered subject formation Through detailed readings of narrative works by eight authors of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries ranging from the canonical to the popular to the esoteric the study identifies three distinct constellations of visual concerns corresponding to the late imperial mid twentieth century and contemporary periods respectively At the same time however it argues that those historical periodizations themselves do not reflect a smooth unidirectional temporal movement rather they are the result of a complex process of retrospection and anticipatory projection The goal of this volume is to use a focus on tropes of visuality and gender to reflect on shifting understandings of the significance of Chineseness modernity and Chinese modernity Translating Holocaust Lives Jean Boase-Beier, Peter Davies, Andrea Hammel, Marion Winters, 2017-01-26 For readers in the English speaking world almost all Holocaust writing is translated writing Translation is indispensable for our understanding of the Holocaust because there is a need to tell others what happened in a way that makes events and experiences accessible if not perhaps comprehensible to other communities Yet what this means is only beginning to be explored by Translation Studies scholars This book aims to bring together the insights of Translation Studies and Holocaust Studies in order to show what a critical understanding of translation in practice and context can contribute to our knowledge of the legacy of the Holocaust The role translation plays is not just as a facilitator of a semi transparent transfer of information Holocaust writing involves questions about language truth and ethics and a theoretically informed understanding of translation adds to these questions by drawing attention to processes of mediation and reception in cultural and historical context It is important to examine how writing by Holocaust victims which is closely tied to a specific language and reflects on the relationship between language experience and thought can or cannot be translated This volume brings the disciplines of Holocaust and Translation Studies into an encounter with each other in order to explore the effects of translation on Holocaust writing The individual pieces by Holocaust scholars explore general theoretical questions and individual case studies and are accompanied by commentaries by translation scholars

Doppelgangers, Alter Egos and Mirror Images in Western Art, 1840-2010 Mary D. Edwards, 2020-06-15 The notion of a person or even an object having a double has been explored in the visual arts for ages and in myriad ways portraying the body and its soul a woman gazing at her reflection in a pool or a man overwhelmed by his own shadow In this edited collection focusing on nineteenth and twentieth century western art scholars analyze doppelgangers alter egos mirror images double portraits and other pairings human and otherwise appearing in a large variety of artistic media Artists whose works are discussed at length include Richard Dadd Salvador Dali Egon Schiele Frida Kahlo the creators of Superman and Nicola Costantino among many others Language Universals Morten H. Christiansen Professor of Psychology Cornell University, Christopher Collins Professor of Linguistics Cornell University, Shimon Edelman Professor of Psychology Cornell University, 2007-04-01 Languages differ from one another in bewildering and seemingly arbitrary ways For example in English the verb precedes the direct object understand the proof but in Japanese the direct object comes first In some languages such as Mohawk it is not even possible to establish a basic word order Nonetheless languages do share certain regularities in how they are structured and used The exact nature and extent of these language universals has been the focus of much research and is one of the central explanatory goals in the language sciences During the past 50 years there has been tremendous progress a few major conceptual revolutions and even the emergence of entirely new fields The wealth of findings and theories offered by the various language science disciplines has made it more important than ever to work toward an integrated understanding of the nature of human language universals This book is the first to examine language universals from a cross disciplinary perspective It provides new insights into long standing questions such as What exactly defines the human capacity for language Are there universal properties of human languages and if so what are they Can all language universals be explained in the same way or do some universals require different kinds of explanations from others Language Universals is unique in starting with the assumption that the best way to approach these and related questions is through a dialogue between a wide range of disciplines including linguistics cognitive neuroscience philosophy computer science and biology

Two Nations in Your Womb Israel Jacob Yuval, 2008-08-19 Since it was first published in Hebrew in 2000 this provocative book has been garnering acclaim and stirring controversy for its bold reinterpretation of the relationship between Judaism and Christianity in the Middle Ages especially in medieval Europe Looking at a remarkably wide array of source material Israel Jacob Yuval argues that the inter religious polemic between Judaism and Christianity served as a substantial component in the mutual formation of each of the two religions He investigates ancient Jewish Passover rituals Jewish martyrs in the Rhineland who in 1096 killed their own children Christian perceptions of those ritual killings and events of the year 1240 when Jews in northern France and Germany expected the Messiah to arrive Looking below the surface of these key moments Yuval finds that among other things the impact of Christianity on Talmudic and medieval Judaism was much stronger than previously assumed and that a rejection of Christianity became a focal point of early Jewish identity Two Nations in Your Womb will reshape our understanding of Jewish and Christian life in late antiquity and over the centuries
