argues that many different forms of political communication or anti communication that often infuriate the public can also be ethically or morally objectionable These forms include question dodging offering scripted answers stonewalling not listening disseminating propaganda pandering being insincere giving false denials issuing revisionist interpretations refusing to take to do with epistemic arrogance interference in autonomy and violating the right to be heard This is not to say that all things rhetorical tactics can be excessive unreasonable or out of place Key Features Identifies and conceptualises forms of dubious
