Emerging Development Of Agriculture In East Africa:

Emerging Development of Agriculture in East Africa Takashi Yamano, Keijiro Otsuka, Frank Place, 2011-04-28 Emerging Development of Agriculture in East Africa offers case studies that find promise in many new innovations Farmers in Uganda have quickly learned the management of NERICA rice a new upland rice variety which is being disseminated in a limited way in the region Also in Uganda farmers living in more remote areas have improved access to markets due to the expansion of mobile phones In Kenya improved milk marketing systems have increased efficiency and led to tangible increases in the adoption of dairy production technologies And the adoption of intensive dairy production systems in Kenya and Uganda are providing significant amounts of manure and positively impacting yields of maize and banana

Emerging Development of Agriculture in East Africa Takashi Yamano, Professor of Applied Economics and Law Keijiro Otsuka, Dr Frank Place, 2011-05-31 Based on a study of 2 400 households in three countries Kenya Uganda and Ethiopia this book provides unprecedented insight into how agricultural productivity can be improved It covers recent successful innovations and ways to overcome continued obstacles

Agricultural Development in Asia and Africa Jonna P. Estudillo, Yoko Kijima, Tetsushi Sonobe, 2022-12-01 This Open Access book explores the multifaceted nature of agricultural and rural development in Asia and examines the extent to which the Asian experience is being replicated in contemporary Africa This volume compiles the works of top scholars who provided analyses and evidences from household level surveys collected for many years in several parts of Asia and Africa The most important finding presented in this book is that African agricultural development has evolved following the pathways of Asian agricultural development The common pathways are borrowed technology from abroad and adaptive research in rice farming secured property rights on natural resources adoption of ICTs investments in human capital including training and launching of the high value agriculture In both continents agricultural development started in the crop sector which had a strong tendency to induce the dynamic development of other sectors in rural areas

The Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics Célestin Monga, Justin Yifu Lin, 2015-07-02 A popular myth about the travails of Africa holds that the continent's long history of poor economic performance reflects the inability of its leaders and policymakers to fulfill the long list of preconditions to be met before sustained growth can be achieved These conditions are said to vary from the necessary quantity and quality of physical and human capital to the appropriate institutions and business environments While intellectually charming and often elegantly formulated that conventional wisdom is actually contradicted by historical evidence and common sense It also suggests a form of intellectual mimicry that posits a unique path to prosperity for all countries regardless of their level of development and economic structure In fact the argument underlining that reasoning is tautological and the policy prescriptions derived from it are fatally teleological low income countries are by definition those where such ingredients are missing None of today's high income countries started its growth process with the required and complete list of growth ingredients Unless one truly believes that the continent of

Africa and most developing countries are ruled predominantly if not exclusively by plutocrats with a high propensity for sadomasochism the conventional view must be re examined debated and questioned This volume the second of the Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics reassesses the economic policies and practices observed across the continent since independence It offers a collection of analyses by some of the leading economists and development thinkers of our time and reflects a wide range of perspectives and viewpoints Africa's emergence as a potential economic powerhouse in the years and decades ahead amply justifies the scope and ambition of the book Africa's Geography Benjamin

Ofori-Amoah,2019-04-30 Africa's Geography presents a comprehensive exploration of the world's second largest and most culturally diverse continent Author Benjamin Ofori Amoah challenges common misconceptions and misrepresentations of Africa from a geographical perspective harnessing the power of modern geographic mapping technology to explore this unique continent This text provides thorough coverage of the historical cultural economic and political forces that continue to shape Africa applying geographic context to relevant past and contemporary issues Coverage of economic development climate and biogeography transportation and communication manufacturing and commerce and mining and agriculture provides foundational knowledge of this vast and complex continent Ideally suited for multiple areas of classroom study this text offers an effective and flexible pedagogical framework Coverage of the entirety of Africa enables students to develop a cohesive portrait of the continent as a whole and identify the dynamism of its nations cultures and economies Engaging and accessible narrative strengthens comprehension while examples of historical and contemporary events increase student interest Innovative and unique Africa's Geography is an essential resource for cross disciplinary investigation of this fascinating part of the world An African Green Revolution Keijiro Otsuka,Donald F. Larson,2012-12-22 This volume explores the usefulness of the Asian model of agricultural development for Africa where even before the recent world food crisis half the population lived on less than on dollar a day and a staggering one in three people and one third of all children were undernourished Africa has abundant natural resources agriculture provides most of its jobs a third of national income and a larger portion of total export earnings However the levels of land and labor productivity rank among the worst in the world The book explains Africa's productivity gap and proposes ways to close it by examining recent experience in Africa and by drawing on lessons from Asia In Pursuit of an African Green Revolution Keijiro Otsuka,Donald F.

Larson,2015-11-24 This book explores recent experiences in the effort to bring about a Green Revolution in Sub Saharan Africa SSA The chapters focus on rice and maize which are promising and strategic smallholder crops Significantly we find that an African Rice Revolution has already begun in many irrigated areas using Asian type modern varieties chemical fertilizer and improved management practices Further we find that the same technological package significantly increases the productivity and profitability of rice farming in rainfed areas as well We also find evidence that that management training when done well can boost productivity on smallholder farms This suggests that African governments can accelerate the pace of Africa's Rice Revolution by strengthening extension capacity The story for maize is wholly different where most farmers use local varieties apply little chemical fertilizer and obtain very low yields However in the highly populated highlands of Kenya a number of farmers have adopted high yielding hybrid maize varieties and chemical fertilizer as was the case in the Asian Green Revolution apply manure produced by stall fed cows as was the case during the British Agricultural Revolution and keep improved cows or cross breeds from European cows and local stock as was the case of the Indian White Revolution We conclude that while rice in Africa has benefited from an Asian Green Revolution strategy that emphasizes modern seeds inputs and focused knowledge transfers the success of Africa's Maize Revolution will require a different system approach based on hybrid maize chemical and organic fertilizers and stall fed cross bred cows State Building and Development Keijiro Otsuka, Takashi Shiraishi, 2014-02-03 Why does a huge income gap still exist between developed and developing countries Plausible causes on the surface may be the difference in technology the quality of human resources and economic institutions but on the deeper level the gap reflects the success and failure of state building which is vital for economic development This book provides cutting edge knowledge on state building economic development and democratization based on case studies of Japan ASEAN South Asia and selected countries in sub Saharan Africa The book examines the interaction between land policies and the state building in sub Saharan Africa It also pays special attention to corruption which affects the relationship between the state and the development and decentralization which exerts influences on the contentious politics Finally the book also sheds new light on the failure and success of industrial policies based on a literature review and a case study of the rapidly growing pharmaceutical industry in Bangladesh This book is one of the few studies which squarely addresses state building and economic development and will be of use to those interested in this subject development practitioners and policymakers in developing countries Africa's Emerging Maize Revolution Derek Byerlee, Carl K. Eicher, 1997 Intended for policymakers and scholars the 15 contributions in this volume are divided into two sections the first provides six country case studies of the evolving maize economies of Zimbabwe Zambia Malawi Kenya Ghana and Nigeria The second part synthesizes major technological institutional and policy issues with chapters on research and extension soil fertility seed and fertilizer delivery systems and marketing and price policy Paper edition 754 0 29 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Sustaining Global Food Security Robert Zeigler, 2019-10-09 Population growth alone dictates that global food supplies must increase by over 50% in coming decades Advances in technology offer an array of opportunities to meet this demand but history shows that these can be fully realised only within an enabling policy environment Sustaining Global Food Security makes a compelling case that recent technological breakthroughs can move the planet towards a secure and sustainable food supply only if new policies are designed that allow their full expression Bob Zeigler has brought together a distinguished set of scientists and policy analysts to produce well referenced chapters exploring international policies on genetic resources molecular genetics genetic engineering crop breeding and protection remote sensing the changing landscape of agricultural policies in the world's largest countries and trade Those entering the agricultural sciences and those who aspire to influence public policy during their careers will benefit from the insights of this unique set of experiences and perspectives
