book provides a broad and detailed picture of the developing education landscape in England during this period highlighting the transformational and sometimes radical reforms that the country has seen Crucially the book draws together contributions from over 40 esteemed education researchers working in the UK The chapters showcase work from a range of experienced and early career researchers ensuring original thought provoking and evidence informed perspectives as we examine the impact of recent policy and explore how it might develop into the future Key thematic areas covered include Restructuring and governing the system Teaching policy practice and professionalism Confronting the challenges of inclusion and inequality Steering and transforming the curriculum and assessment This timely collection will interest students at all levels researchers education professionals and policymakers It sheds important light on this tumultuous era for education policy and will inform those interested in this area for years to come

Making Histories Paul Ashton,Tanya Evans,Paula Hamilton,2020-09-21 If historical culture is the specific and particular ways that a society engages with its past this book aims to situate the professional practice of public history now emerging across the world within that framework It links the increasingly varied practices of memory and history making such as genealogy podcasting re enactment family histories memoir writing film making and facebook histories with the work that professional historians do both in and out of the academy Making Histories asks questions about the role of the expert and notions of authority within a landscape that is increasingly concerned with connection to the past and authenticity The book is divided into four parts 1 Resistance Rights Authority 2 Memory Memorialization Commemoration 3 Performance Transmission Reception 4 Family Private Self The four sections outline major themes emerging in public history across the world in the 21st century which are all underpinned by the impact of new media on historical practice and our central argument for the volume which advocates a more capacious definition of what constitutes public history

The Best For My Child: Did the market really deliver? Fiona Millar,2018-05-21 Parent choice diversity of school provision and the idea of a quasi market in schools have dominated education policy for the last thirty years since the passage of the 1988 Great Education Reform Act But has the market worked in the way that was intended Are schools better Do we have a fairer school system Do parents really have choice Author and journalist Fiona Millar looks at why these policies have proved so seductive to a generation of politicians and seeks to uncover whether we really are doing the best for all our children If we are not what future reform could and should look like This is an area that has preoccupied me since the early 1990s when my own children s school was one of the first to be named and shamed by Ofsted explains Millar We had first hand experience of how the market worked in practice so this is an area I have followed with close interest every since Thirty years on from the 1988 Act I feel we are ready for a new approach but that is important to understand what worked and what could be better I hope my book will help to answer those questions
