| Let no Images Be hung with Caesar's trophies. I'll about, And drive away the vulgar from the streets: So do you too where you perceive them thick. These growing feathers plucked from Caesar's wing Will make him fly an ordinary pitch. Who else would soar above the view of men And keep us all in servile fearfulness. Act 1, Scene 1 |                                |                                 |
| If it be ought toward the general good, Set honour in one eye and death i' th' other. And I will look on both indifferently: For let the gods so speed me as I love the name of honour more than I fear death. Act 1, Scene 2                                                                                                              |                                |                                 |
