

LAND, ART

A Cultural Ecology Handbook

Today's interdisciplinary understanding of ecology articulates a web of relations that goes way beyond environmentalism. Likewise, contemporary art is a radically diversified field, concerned with government as much as corporate politics, urban planning, agriculture, tourism, or ethical justice. Accompanying the first phase of the RMA Arts & Ecology programme, this compendium of essays, dialogues and commissioned projects by writers, ecologists, cultural theorists, activists and curators explores art's varied modes of response to notions of territory, the Earth and the intergenerals of the 21st century. In part a genealogy of 'land' and what has been understood by 'the environment' since the 1960s, the publication proposes and tests if and how our conceptions of art and artists are relevant to a global debate about the future of the planet, and where, how and why art might operate.

Land, Art Max Andrews, 2006 Compendium of essays dialogues and commissioned projects by artists ecologists cultural theorists activists and curators exploring art's varied modes of response to notions of territory the Earth land and environment Cultural Ecologies of the Land Patrick J. Dillon, 2025-04-15 Cultural Ecologies of the Land is a radical and challenging reassessment of the way we relate to the land and to infrastructure There was a time when the land defined us Now with each passing year we are increasingly detached from it It was once the centre stage of humanity now it is the setting for a technological drama What has happened and why does it matter This book is a multi layered account of people and environment shaping each other through cumulative moment to moment day to day change and a template for thinking about place locality belonging and identity Cultural Ecologies of the Land presents the existential crisis that many believe we now face as a systemic problem arising from social institutions and forms of behaviour that have been marginalised with our dependency on modern infrastructure It explains the part people have played in contributing to the crisis and how regenerating relationships with the land offers a route towards alleviating it This is not only about acknowledging our impact on Earth but also about understanding ourselves in relation to it how we engage with our surroundings make sense of them live and work in them and create narratives that connect and sustain us Biologically-Inspired Computing for the Arts: Scientific Data through Graphics Ursyn, Anna, 2012-04-30 This book comprises a collection of authors individual approaches to the relationship between nature science and art created with the use of computers discussing issues related to the use of visual language in communication about biologically inspired scientific data visual literacy in science and application of practitioner's approach Provided by publisher The Routledge Companion to Landscape Studies Peter Howard, Ian Thompson, Emma Waterton, 2013 As a concept landscape does not respect disciplinary boundaries Environmental Apocalypse in Science and Art Sergio Fava, 2013-01-04 At a time when it is clear that climate change adaptation and mitigation are failing this book examines how our assumptions about valid and usable knowledge are preventing effective climate action Through a cross disciplinary empirically based analysis of climate science and policy the book situates the failures of climate policy in the cultural history of prediction and its interfaces with policy Fava calls into question the current interfaces between scientific research and climate policy by tracing multiple connections between modelling epistemology politics food security religion art and the apocalyptic Demonstrating how the current domination of climate policy by models and scenarios is part of the problem the book examines how artistic practices are a critical location to ask questions differently rethink environmental futures and activate social change The analysis starts with another moment of climatic change in recent western history the overlap of the Little Ice Age and the scientific revolution during which intense climatic scientific and political change were contemporary with mathematical calculation of the apocalypse Dealing with the need for complex answers to complex and urgent questions this is essential reading for those interested in climate action interdisciplinary research and methodological innovation The empirical analyses amount to a methodological experiment across history of science theology art theory and history architecture future studies climatology computer modelling and agricultural policy This book is a major contribution to understanding how we are precluding effective climate action and designing futures that resemble our worst nightmares Art and Sustainability Sacha Kagan,2014-03-15 What is the cultural dimension of sustainability This book offers a thought provoking answer with a theoretical synthesis on cultures of sustainability Describing how modernity degenerated into a culture of unsustainability to which the arts are contributing Sacha Kagan engages us in a fundamental rethinking of our ways of knowing and seeing the world We must learn not to be afraid of complexity and to re awaken a sensibility to patterns that connect With an overview of ecological art over the past 40 years and a discussion of art and social change the book assesses the potential role of art in a much needed transformation process Natural Art , Form, Art and the Environment Nathalie Blanc,Barbara Benish,2016-10-04 Form Art and the Environment Engaging in Sustainability adopts a pluralistic perspective of environmental artistic processes in order to examine the contributions of the arts in promoting sustainable development and culture at a grassroots level and its potential as a catalyst for social change and awareness This book investigates how community arts environmental creativity and the changing role of artists in the Polis contribute to the goal of a sustainable future from a number of interdisciplinary perspectives From considering the role that art works play in revealing local environmental problems such as biodiversity public transportation and energy issues to examining the way in which artists and art works enrich our multidimensional understanding of culture and sustainable development Form Art and the Environment advocates the inestimable value of art as an expressive force in promoting sustainable culture and conscious development Utilising a broad range of case studies and analysis from a body of work collected through the international environmental COAL prize this book examines the evolution of the relationship between culture and the environment This book will be of interest to practitioners of the environmental arts culture and sustainable development and students of Art Environmental Science and International Policy and Planning Development In Land Ben Tufnell,2019-11-29 An attempt to melt an iceberg with a blowtorch an indoor lake of tequila an ascent of Mt Everest driftwood burnt with sunlight focused through a magnifying glass and a doorbell that emits the sound of a dying star these are some of the extraordinary artistic strategies covered in this collection Gathering together texts published since 2002 as well as specially written new essays In Land traces recent engagements with landscape nature environment and the cosmos Ecoart in Action Amara Geffen,Ann Rosenthal,Chris Fremantle,Aviva Rahmani,2022-02-01 Ready to go vetted approaches for facilitating artistic environmental projects How do we educate those who feel an urgency to address our environmental and social challenges What ethical concerns do art makers face who are committed to a deep green agenda How can we refocus education to emphasize integrative thinking and inspire hope What role might art play in actualizing environmental resilience Compiled from 67 members of the Ecoart
