Psychology and Mathematics Education Gila Hanna, Laura Macchi, Karin Binder, Laura Martignon, Katharina Loibl, 2023-09-05 Modern Mathematics is constructed rigorously through proofs based on truths which are either axioms or previously proven theorems Thus it is par excellence a model of rational inquiry Links between Cognitive Psychology and Mathematics Education have been particularly strong during the last decades Indeed the Enlightenment view of the rational human mind that reasons makes decisions and solves problems based on logic and probabilities was shaken during the second half of the twentieth century Cognitive psychologists discovered that humans thoughts and actions often deviate from rules imposed by strict normative theories of inference Yet these deviations should not be called errors as Cognitive Psychologists have demonstrated these deviations may be either valid heuristics that succeed in the environments in which humans have evolved or biases that are caused by a lack of adaptation to abstract information formats Humans as the cognitive psychologist and economist Herbert Simon claimed do not usually optimize but rather satisfice even when solving problem This Research Topic aims at demonstrating that these insights have had a decisive impact on Mathematics Education We want to stress that we are concerned with the view of bounded rationality that is different from the one espoused by the heuristics and biases program In Simon's bounded rationality and its direct descendant ecological rationality rationality is understood in terms of cognitive success in the world correspondence rather than in terms of conformity to content free norms of coherence e.g. transitivity

Mathematics and Technology Gilles Aldon, Fernando Hitt, Luciana Bazzini, Uwe Gellert, 2017-04-05 This volume collects most recent work on the role of technology in mathematics education It offers fresh insight and understanding of the many ways in which technological resources can improve the teaching and learning of mathematics The first section of the volume focuses on the question how a proposed mathematical task in a technological environment can influence the acquisition of knowledge and what elements are important to retain in the design of mathematical tasks in computing environments The use of white smart boards platforms as Moodle tablets and smartphones have transformed the way we communicate both inside and outside the mathematics classroom Therefore the second section discussed how to make efficient use of these resources in the classroom and beyond The third section addresses how technology modifies the way information is transmitted and how mathematical education has to take into account the new ways of learning through connected networks as well as new ways of teaching The last section is on the training of teachers in the digital era The editors of this volume have selected papers from the proceedings of the 65th 66th and 67th CIEAEM conference and invited the correspondent authors to contribute to this volume by discussing one of the four important topics The book continues a series of sourcebooks edited by CIEAEM the Commission Internationale pour l'étude et l'amélioration de l'Enseignement des Mathématiques International Commission for the Study and Improvement of Mathematics Education

Education in Cambodia Vincent McNamara, Martin Hayden, 2022-05-14 This book is the most comprehensive account yet published about the education system in Cambodia It covers all system levels and draws upon the knowledge and insights of a wide range of leading Cambodian and foreign scholars The book focuses on how the system has developed and is making progress Significant achievements over the past two decades are evident but many problems remain including the poor quality of teaching research and institutional management Under funding is an ongoing obstacle but so too is a bureaucratic culture of resistance to change a history of weak governance and an anti reform sentiment deriving from a teacher centred and exam driven curriculum Achieving international standards must now be the system's highest priority To this end the system must rid itself of conservatism complacency and manipulation by parochial vested interests

The Armed Forces Covenant in action? Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee,2013-07-18 A series of Ofsted inspections on Army Apprenticeships conducted in 2013 rated the overall effectiveness as good This was an improvement over the last inspection in 2009 rated as satisfactory now called requires improvement Some 28 per cent of Army recruits were less than 18 years of age Further information is needed on why the Army is so dependent on recruiting personnel under the age of 18 years compared to the other two Services and whether steps are being taken to reduce this dependency Of those recruited in 2012 3 5 per cent of the Army were rated at entry level 2 for literacy that of a 7 to 8 year old and 39 per cent had a literacy level of an eleven year old If as the MoD states it has to recruit personnel at whatever level of attainment is available then it should boost remedial action when recruitment entry standards are particularly low In light of changes brought about by Future Force 2020 it may be that recruiting personnel with higher levels of attainment would better meet the future needs of the Armed Forces Whilst the Committee recognises that some recruits may not be eager to take further academic exams the MoD should encourage more recruits to undertake English and Maths GCSEs which would stand them in good stead for future employment The MoD has carried out some useful pilot projects with paramedic training and should identify more potential projects to ensure that vital skills paid for by the MoD are not lost to the country

Food for thought? Experimental evidence on the learning impacts of a large-scale school feeding program in Ghana Aurino, Elisabetta,Gelli, Aulo,Adamba, Clement,Osei-Akoto, Isaac,Alderman, Harold,2018-12-20 There is very limited experimental evidence of the impact of large scale government led school meals programs on child educational achievements in Sub Saharan Africa We address this gap by reporting treatment effects from a nationwide randomized trial of the Government of Ghana s school feeding program GSFP on children s math and literacy cognition problem solving ability and working memory and composite scores of overall attainments Based on the government s plans to re target and scale up the GSFP food insecure schools and related communities across the country were randomly assigned to school feeding After two years of implementation program availability led to moderate increases in test scores for the average pupil in school catchment areas ranging between 0.12 and 0.16 standard deviations Analysis focusing on per protocol population subgroups unveiled substantial heterogeneity school feeding led to remarkable learning and cognitive gains for girls poorest children and children from the northern regions Program effects were at least twice as large as for the average child Increases in enrolment grade attainment and shifts in time use toward schooling time constituted potential mechanisms for impact We conclude the program combined social protection with equitable human capital accumulation thus contributing to the imperative of learning for all set in the Sustainable Development Goals
