Improving Maths and English in Further Education: A Practical Guide Jonathan Kay, 2021-06-04 Improving Maths and English in Further Education provides a strategic practical and easily applied toolkit for teachers and leaders as they work with students to gain core skills. The book highlights the unique challenges that are faced within the sector and the value of embedding college wide literacy and numeracy for success providing a range of strategies to resolve challenges. Structured to make sure that there is always an alternative approach, method or suggestion, the book allows the reader to choose the steps that suit their context best. Each chapter looks at the key priorities, identifies a range of potential solutions to a challenge faced in FE, acknowledges potential implementation pitfalls and remedies, suggests practical takeaways, key considerations and next steps. Teachers and staff within further and Post 16 education will find this an essential resource for supporting students studying maths and English. Teachers and leaders from curriculum areas across the sector will find scenarios and anecdotes that resonate in this book. Timetabling, accountability, motivation: a must read. Catherine Sezen, Senior Policy Manager FE. This is an interesting and engaging read from Jonny who has produced a book that brings together contemporary educational literature with a personal and honest take on leading and teaching English and Maths in FE. Steven Wallis, Executive Director, Quality NCG. This book caters for the many different voices, people and characters in FE; it does exactly what it says on the tin. It will give you all the tools for a great job with an evidence base to boot. Julia Smith, tessmaths. Jonathan Kay has managed and led English and maths departments in Further Education since 2017, as well as working as consultant for the Association of Colleges and Lead English Expert and examiner for a leading exam board. Jonathan has also previously worked as an English teacher, 2nd in Department and Head of English in a range of Secondary schools.

The Armed Forces Covenant in action? Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2013-07-18 A series of Ofsted inspections on Army Apprenticeships conducted in 2013 rated the overall effectiveness as good. This was an improvement over the last inspection in 2009, rated as satisfactory, now called for improvement. Some 28 per cent of Army recruits were less than 18 years of age. Further information is needed on why the Army is so dependent on recruiting personnel under the age of 18 years compared to the other two Services and whether steps are being taken to reduce this dependency. Of those recruited in 2012, 35 per cent of the Army were rated at entry level 2 for literacy, that of a 7 to 8 year old, and 39 per cent had a literacy level of an eleven year old. If, as the MoD states, it has to recruit personnel at whatever level of attainment is available, then it should boost remedial action when recruitment entry standards are particularly low. In light of changes brought about by Future Force 2020, it may be that recruiting personnel with higher levels of attainment would better meet the future needs of the Armed Forces Whilst the Committee recognises that some recruits may not be eager to take further academic exams the MoD should encourage more recruits to undertake English and Maths GCSEs which would stand them in good stead for future employment The MoD has carried out some useful pilot projects with paramedic training and should identify more potential projects to ensure that vital skills paid for by the MoD are not lost to the country

Second International Handbook of Mathematics Education Alan Bishop, M.A. (Ken) Clements, Christine Keitel-Kreidt, Jeremy Kilpatrick, Frederick Koon-Shing Leung, 2012-02-02 ALAN 1 BISHOP The first International Handbook on Mathematics Education was published by Kluwer Academic Publishers in 1996 However most of the writing for that handbook was done in 1995 and generally reflected the main research and development foci prior to 1994 There were four sections 36 chapters and some 150 people contributed to the final volume either as author reviewer editor or critical friend The task was a monumental one attempting to cover the major research and practice developments in the international field of mathematics education as it appeared to the contributors in 1995 Inevitably there were certain omissions some developments were only starting to emerge and some literatures were only sketchy and speculative However that Handbook has had to be reprinted three times so it clearly fulfilled a need and I personally hope that it lived up to what I wrote in its Introduction The Handbook thus attempts not merely to present a description of the international state of the field but also to offer synthetic and reflective overviews on the different directions being taken by the field on the gaps existing in our present knowledge on the current problems being faced and on the future possibilities for development Bishop et al 1996 Since that time there has been even more activity in our field and now seems a good time to take stock again to reflect on what has happened since 1995 and to create a second Handbook with the same overall goals
