County Council,1947 Making an African City Jennifer Hart,2024-03-05 In Making an African City Jennifer Hart traces the way that British colonial officials Accra Town Council members and a diverse group of technocrats used regulation to define what an acceptable city looked like Unlike cities elsewhere on the continent Accra had a long history of urbanism that predated British colonial presence By criminalizing some activities and privileging others colonial officials sought to marginalize indigenous practices of Accra residents and shape the development of a new modern city Hart argues however that residents regularly pushed back protesting regulations refusing to participate in newly developed systems reappropriating infrastructure demanding rights to city services and asserting their own informal vision for the future of the city While urban plans and regulations ultimately failed to substantively remake the city their effects were and are still felt by urban residents who are often subject to but not served by urban infrastructure Making an African City explores how the informalization of Accra s development was a historical process not a natural and self evident phenomenon which connects the history of the city with the history of urban development and the growth of technocracy around the world Laws ... Clements, 2014-10-01 Focusing on two Arizona towns that had their origins in mining bonanzas Tombstone and Jerome historian Eric L Clements offers a rare study dissecting the process of bust itself the reasons and manners in which these towns declined as the mining booms ended Tombstone was the site of one of the great silver bonanzas of the nineteenth century a boom that started in the late 1870s and was over by 1890 Jerome s copper deposits were mined for much longer beginning in the 1880s and enduring until the 1930s But when the mining booms ended each town faced its decline in similar ways The process of decline was more complex than superficial histories have indicated and Clements discusses the role of labor unions in trying to stave off collapse the changing demography of decline the nature and expression of social tensions the impact on institutions such as churches and schools and the human responses to continued economic depression But bust involved more than a steady decline into ghost town status Clements discovers the towns remaining residents employed numerous strategies to survive and reduce household expenses In the end both towns reinvented themselves as late twentieth century tourist attractions
