Any discussion of worship and liturgy is a touchy subject in most churches in North America—and not only in Seventh-day Adventist congregations. According to Paul Basden, “Throughout Christian history, public worship has attracted attention, stimulated discussion, and even provoked contention.”¹ This assessment seems accurate. In the New Testament, the apostle Paul faced issues of worship in the church at Corinth and part of the contention over the acceptance of Gentile Christians was whether Jewish and Gentile believers in Christ could worship together. During the Middle Ages, Eastern and Western Christianity divided over the use of icons in worship. At the time of the Protestant Reformation, while Reformers were basically in agreement over matters of faith and salvation, the bitter divisions between them over forms and elements of worship hindered their unity and common witness. Reformed Protestants and Catholics persecuted Anabaptists over their theology and practice of baptism; Luther scorned Zwingli's understanding of the Lord's Supper; Puritans separated from Anglicans over the priority given to the preaching of the Word of God.

Although today we no longer kill people for disagreements over forms of worship, little has changed in regard to the questions that have divided Christianity over the centuries and many articles continue to be written on this subject in popular Christian journals.² For Seventh-day Adventists forms of worship have also become major points of contention. For decades we worshiped God along a traditional Protestant hymn-based worship format in which the sermon was the dominant element. Today, however, while the sermon tends to remain the dominant element—but the trend is a moving away from the traditional expository sermon to replace it with a narrative of personal faith and experience—the hymn-based singing is being replaced with more contemporary songs and music, a variety of musical instruments other than piano or organ
