Cultural Influences on the Process of Strategic Management Andreas Michael Schühly, 2022-01-01 This unique book is positioned at the crossroads of strategic management and international business Based on an in depth literature review the author empirically assesses the widely shared implicit assumption that strategic management processes can be globally applied in a standardized i e culture free manner So far a variety of tools have also been recommended but without incorporating cultural differences As many organizations observe that this ethnocentric view is more an illusion than reality strategic management research has started to focus on the cultural sensitivity of its theories tools and processes to provide practitioners in a multicultural setting with adequate know how and tools To foster long term decision making despite uncertainty scenario planning is frequently applied by practitioners Up until today scenario planning has however gained little attention from the academic community Through this book the author presents a newly developed framework for strategic management that combines the cultural value scale to test the cultural sensitivity of the long term planning tool called scenario planning The different process steps of scenario planning have been individually examined for their sensitivity toward the cultural dimensions of uncertainty avoidance and long term orientation The investigation is based on a unique global set of management consultants working for a leading professional service firm The results of this research show the cultural sensitivity of scenario planning with different degrees of the process steps and the tested cultural dimensions

Management International Review Jan Hendrik Fisch, 2013-11-11 Alan M Rugman's and Cecilia Brain's paper examines the R D and strategies of the world's largest firms in the pharmaceuticals sector and finds a high degree of intra regional sales. R D and sales are more concentrated within North America and Europe than in Asia. In addition, the relative size of the US market compared to other parts of the triad creates imbalances with respect to R D sales and international strategy. The paper written by Bruce Kogut and Anca Metiu addresses the question of what limits the international distribution of work between rich and poor countries in the software industry. Their research reveals a convergence among co located and distributed projects. The results indicate that the managerial experience to support global outsourcing of intellectual labor is already advanced while creativity remains more likely to be located in rich countries. John Cantwell, Katherine Glac and Rebecca Harding analyze the extent and the patterns of specialization of the internationalization of R D since 1969 by the largest Swiss firms abroad and by the largest non Swiss firms in Switzerland. They find out that Swiss owned firms abroad access technologies in the primary fields of their own industry while foreign owned firms conducting research in Switzerland demonstrate more technological diversification away from their own primary fields and into sources of local Swiss traditional technological strengths.
